

19 BARBERS' PLEAS
ON PRICES REFUSEDPetition Rejected by Council Ordinance Committee.

Despite contentions of 19 barbers that raising the minimum price of haircuts in Atlanta from 25 cents to 35 cents would mean "business suicide" for them, city council's ordinance committee yesterday voted to adverse a petition to avoid the price hike. Several weeks ago council passed an ordinance creating an Atlanta barbers' board and undertook to set minimum prices and maximum working hours for the 400 Atlanta shops. The petition yesterday sought to set aside the 35-cent minimum charge provided for haircuts and permit continuance of the present 25-cent minimum. Some of the shops heretofore charged only 15 cents for a haircut before council adopted the new measure.

GEORGIA NEGROES ASK
$197,500 FOR BEATING

NEWARK, N. J., Nov. 16.—(P)—Charging they were beaten and smeared with white paint, seven negro potato pickers filed in federal court today suit for $197,500 damages from nine white men. The negroes, including one woman, accused the defendants of spiriting them from their homes in Cranbury, August 11, drubbing and daubing them and then chasing them. All residents of Georgia or Florida, the negroes have migrated north with several thousands of their race to harvest central Jersey's potato crop.

SALLY SAVER'S
NOTEBOOK

With the meat pie which is suggested for Sunday dinner, you'll need some colorful vegetables and a crisp salad to make pleasant contrast. This is a suggestive menu:

Sunday Dinner.
Fruit Juice Cocktail
Meat Pie With Biscuit Crust
Buttered Greens
Tomato and Celery Salad
Chocolate Pudding

Tea or Coffee
Here is a new salad I am sure you will like. It carries an air of garden freshness; colorful, too.

Tomato and Celery Salad.
1 package strawberry-flavored gelatin
1 pint hot tomatoes
2 teaspoons prepared horseradish

1-2 teaspoons scraped onion
1-2 teaspoons salt
Dash of cayenne
1-2 teaspoon vinegar
1-2 cup diced celery.

Dissolve gelatin in hot tomatoes. Add horseradish, onion, salt and cayenne. Force through sieve; then chill until slightly thickened.

Add vinegar and dash of salt to celery and fold at once into slightly thickened gelatin. Turn into individual molds and chill until firm. Unmold on crisp lettuce and watercress. Garnish with mayonnaise. Serves 4 to 6.

It is time to be making fruit cake, and for this delightful yearly baking I am offering a recipe for an old-fashioned cake.

Kuhn 'Shortage' Shrinks As State Admits Mistake

'Georgia Peach's' Application for Membership in the Bund Is Read Into Court Record; She 'Recognized the Leadership Principle.'

NEW YORK, Nov. 16.—(P)—Acknowledgment of major error by an important witness—and a consequent sharp scaling down of the amount of money Fritz Kuhn is accused of having stolen from his German-American Bund—was made today by the state as it rested in the Bundesführer's larceny trial.

Defense Attorney Peter L. F. Sabatino sought immediately to show that the Bund's "leadership principle" was such that Kuhn had unlimited power to handle the organization—and its money—as he chose.

He read into the record an application for membership in the Bund ostensibly made by Mrs. Virginia Cogswell, a nine-times-married matron sometimes called the "Georgia peach."

The paper bore the phrase: "I recognize the leadership principle." State testimony had pictured Kuhn as having been so friendly with Mrs. Cogswell that he once paid a $60 doctor bill for her, but this was the first indication of any direct connection she had with the Bund itself.

After recalling Benjamin Blattner, an accountant for District Attorney Thomas E. Dewey's office, to testify that he had made a miscalculation involving nearly $4,000, the prosecution abandoned its attempt to show that Kuhn had illegally taken $5,841.

Instead, Assistant District Attorney Herman McCarthy then sought to show the total was $1,891, thus dividing $674 claimed to have been misappropriated from the Bund's "legal defense fund"; $500 ostensibly (but says the state, not actually) paid to an attorney for legal services; $717 which the middle-aged Kuhn spent in moving the furniture of a woman friend, Mrs. Florence Camp.

Robert L. MacDougall
Is Reported as Choice.

All persons concerned in the well-authenticated story that Miss Gay B. Shepperson would soon resign her position as head of the Georgia Works Projects Administration, to be succeeded by Robert L. MacDougall, technical director of the Atlanta Housing Authority, held their peace and dodged newspapermen yesterday, while they awaited for official announcement of the change from Washington.

A Washington dispatch confirmed that Miss Shepperson's resignation had reached there, but quoted Stephen Early, one of the President's secretaries, as saying her successor had not yet been chosen.

Business As Usual.
Giving the impression that Miss Shepperson's resignation would be accepted, Early stated that it had not yet reached the White House. Meanwhile, it was business as usual at WPA state headquarters here, though the news of the administrator's resignation came as a surprise to some of her closest business associates.

Speculation as to what Miss Shepperson would do after her resignation becomes effective December 1, ranged from a more important government job to retirement from public life and a return to the field in which she has made an important name for herself, welfare work.

Wants to Quit.
Miss Shepperson, who has been receiving $500 a month for handling between 12 and 14 million dollars of federal relief funds a year, asked to be relieved of her duties several months ago.

MacDougall, reliably reported to have been selected as her successor, has been associated with her in the administration of federal relief in the state since the early part of 1933, with the exception of the 11 months he has spent as the housing authority's first technical director. He was reported to have spent several days in Washington recently.

Pre-Holiday Meals Ask for Simplicity; Here's Answer

A meat pie with biscuit topping is chuck-full of simple, wholesome goodness.

Casserole Creations Are Simple And Cheaper Cuts Can Be Used

Some Suggestions for Week-End Menu Which Will Save
Your Energy for Festive Days That Are Coming.

By SALLY SAVER.

Simplicity in foods should be the rule this week end, to provide the extra time and attention which must be put on preparation for the festive days just ahead. Simple foods, simply prepared will be perfectly right even for Sunday dinner, and this will increase the anticipation of the Thanksgiving feast.

Casserole dishes are wholesome and economical and are the answer for "something simple." For a casserole such as the one pictured you may use the inexpensive cuts of veal, lamb, or beef. In fact, these cuts are most suitable because they all require long, slow cooking in moist heat.

Meat Casserole With Biscuit Topping.

Allow sufficient meat and gravy for a two-quart dish (about 2-1/3 or 3 pounds meat), a cupful of raw potatoes, cubed or cut in balls, 1-2 cup diced carrots, and some mushrooms, if desired. Brown meat in a little fat, add other ingredients and boiling water to barely cover, and transfer to a casserole.

Biscuit Crust.

Prepare the mixture for plain or whole-wheat baking powder biscuits, roll 1-3-inch thick, then spread with an extra tablespoon of creamed butter, fold over, press edges together and roll 1-2-inch thick. Cut into biscuits and place, scarcely touching, on the boiling meat pie. In the picture the biscuits were cut with a doughnut cutter and the little centers put in place after the rings were placed on the pie.

Here is another pie you will like. It features shrimps, celery and hard-cooked eggs instead of meat.

Shrimp and Celery Pie.

1 can condensed celery soup
1-2 cup milk
2 hard-cooked eggs, finely chopped
2 cans (approx. 6 oz.-size) shrimp
1 cup green peas, cooked
1 teaspoon curry powder (optional)
Biscuit crust.

Mix the milk with the celery soup; add the eggs, and curry powder. Put one-third of the celery-egg mixture in the bottom of a baking dish. Then add one-half the shrimps and peas. Repeat this process again, ending with the remaining celery-egg mixture on top. Cover with biscuits, as described for the recipe above and bake in a 400-degree oven for 20 or 30 minutes. Serves 5 or 6.

NEW GOLD STRIKE MADE IN STATE MINE

skepticism around this mountain town about the stories of enormously rich discoveries in the old Calhoun mine, but H. B. Smith, hotel manager of Dahlonega, tonight said he had talked with a number of responsible "old-timers" who had been out to the mine this afternoon and they had told him a story which he said was true.

Here is the story as related by Mr. Smith:
"There were some newsreel men from New York here this afternoon and they begged Dugas to set off some dynamite in the mine so as to make their pictures look more realistic. Dugas did just that and, after several blasts had been set off it was found that ore, considerably richer than that which had previously been discovered, had been exposed."

"I talked with a number of persons who had been out to the mine since the new discovery and they were considerably excited about what they had seen. I have not been out there myself," Smith added, "but I have seen a half-dozen or more pieces of ore that came out of the mine this afternoon and it is literally filled with gold. There is no question from what I have seen that they have found some rich ore. The question is to what depth will it go."

"I was told by a member of my family who had been out to the mine that Mr. Dugas exhibited a piece of ore this afternoon as large as my head and that it was a half-gold. Dugas estimated that piece to be worth $15,000. I think the blasts this afternoon for the movie men may did open up ore that is richer than anything heretofore."

The Rev. George O. King, pastor of the Dahlonega Methodist church, declared that he had seen the new vein and "it looked larger and better than the first."

About the same story was told by John Moore, a filling station operator.

Geologist Goes to Mine.
Upon the report of the new discovery—that is the discovery brought about by the movie explosion, State Geologist Peyton set out late last night from Atlanta for the mine, which is three miles south of here.

There is excitement in Dahlonega without question, but there still are a lot of people who have their tongues in their cheeks. That's the way with these mountain folk who have heard a lot of talk about gold all these years since the War Between the States when the old Calhoun mine closed down.

JUSTICE BUTLER, 73, DIES AT CAPITAL

westerner (Minnesota), and the court's only Catholic.

However, Mr. Roosevelt, in filling places on the court, has shown little disposition to be guided by sectional considerations. And consequently speculation as to the coming appointment covered a nationwide list.

The geographical and religious factors brought Attorney General Frank Murphy (Catholic, Michigan) and Judge Harold M. Stephens of the court of appeals for the District of Columbia (Catholic, Utah), prominently into the discussion. The sectional consideration alone involved Thurman Arnold, assistant attorney general (Wyoming); Circuit Judge William Denman (California); Circuit Judge Samuel Brant (New Mexico) and Senators Schwellenbach (Washington) and Minton (Indiana).

Jackson Is Talked.

Others mentioned included Solicitor General Robert H. Jackson (New York), Senator Wagner (New York), Donald R. Richberg, Judge Samuel Rosenman and Ferdinand Pecora (New York), Dean Landis of the Harvard law school, President Robert M. Hutchins of the University of Chicago, and Dean Lloyd K. Garrison of the University of Wisconsin law school.

Justice Butler, born 73 years ago in a Minnesota log cabin, died in a hospital here at 4:14 a. m. after a three-month struggle against a bladder ailment. He had served on the court since 1922, when he was appointed by President Harding, and participated in many of its momentous decisions.

A big man, with a round ruddy face, thin fuzzy hair and piercing blue eyes, he was much esteemed for his good humor and penchant for genial story telling. He loved to play golf.

His death brought from his old adversary, President Roosevelt, a formal statement of regret and a personal note to Mrs. Butler saying he had always regarded the justice as a "personal friend" and adding that: "His undoubtedly great ability, his complete frankness in the expression of his philosophy and his honest convictions commanded my respect, and in common with my many friends, I sincerely regret his untimely passing."

When the supreme court met at noon, Chief Justice Hughes solemnly announced Butler's death and the court, in respect, adjourned until next Wednesday.

Hughes Announces Death.

"Trained in the exacting school of a most active professional practice," Hughes said, "Pierce Butler brought to this court not only his learning in the law but a rich store of practical experience. His fidelity, his courage and forthrightness, which were his outstanding characteristics, made him a worthy warrior for his convictions, and he served the court with great ability and indefatigable industry, and an unwavering loyalty to its traditions and to his lofty conceptions of its function in preserving our constitutional heritage."

Attorney General Murphy issued a statement saying the nation had "lost in Justice Butler one who served with ability and faithfulness," Butler, he said, "took his stand on the grave issues of our times with a rugged integrity and unwavering obedience to his conception of the right."

Justice Butler is survived by his widow and the following children: Pierce Butler Jr., William Butler, Francis Butler, all of St. Paul, Minn.; Leo Butler and Miss Margaret Butler, of this city, and Mrs. Edward K. Dunn, of Baltimore.

MAN IS INJURED LEAVING TROLLEY

North Carolinian's Leg Has To Be Amputated.

James Farrow, 39, of Gastonia, N. C., had his right leg amputated last night at Emory University hospital after his foot was badly mangled as he stepped off a streetcar at East Ponce de Leon avenue and Ponce de Leon court last night at 9 o'clock.

Jesse L. Fuller, of 870 Pryor street, S. W., operator of the street car, which was bound from Atlanta to Decatur, told Decatur city police he could not understand how the accident occurred. He said that Farrow alighted at the stop and that he started off but stopped almost immediately when he saw the man beneath the front wheels.

Beside his crushed foot, Farrow was suffering from shock. His condition was reported by hospital authorities to be only "fair."

Attorney General Murphy May Succeed Late Justice

Religion Is a Big Asset to New Dealer Since Butler, of Same Faith, Was Only Catholic on High Bench;
Jackson Also Mentioned.

By GLADSTONE WILLIAMS,
Staff Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 16.—For the first time since Chief Justice Edward D. White, of Louisiana, died in 1921, the United States supreme court has been without a Catholic member, except for the interim between the chief justice's death and the appointment of Associate Justice Pierce Butler, of Minnesota, also a Catholic.

Hence, speculation in Washington following the death here today of Justice Butler, all but unanimously picks Attorney General Frank Murphy, another Catholic, as Butler's successor. Close observers of things political on Capitol Hill and the White House cite Murphy's Catholicism as one reason for the President to appoint him to the vacancy, but also stress the fact that the attorney general is a westerner, an ardent New Dealer, and an able lawyer.

Jackson Not Out.

Murphy's solicitor general, Robert H. Jackson, might be given the nod if he were not a New Yorker, but inasmuch as Chief Justice Charles Evans Hughes and Associate Justice Harlan Fiske Stone are also from the Empire state, it is not thought probable that President Roosevelt would go to his own native heath for Butler's successor.

Another reason which might be advanced for the promotion of the attorney general is that he comes from Michigan, where he was governor, which is considered by New Dealers a doubtful commonwealth in the Democratic column. Because of his religion, and the violence of the sit-down strikes in the state when he was governor, Attorney General Murphy has his enemies in Michigan, but he also has many ardent friends. Among his most devoted admirers has been none other than the President, himself.

Past Is Recalled.

Frank Murphy has not only made an excellent record as attorney general but he is considered by the courts and the bar, as judicially minded. Quiet and unassuming, he has already cleaned-up many bad spots in the administration of justice in the higher courts and he is recognized as an intellectual even among those who do not believe too strongly in the philosophy of the New Deal.

Of course, form players on Roosevelt appointments have a vantage point. He doesn't always run true to form, as many of his closest friends learned when he surprised all guessers with the appointment of Associate Justice Hugo Black, former senator from Alabama, who was smeared with the Ku Klux label before he was confirmed by the senate.

In the past, Mr. Murphy served as United States high commissioner of the Philippines under appointment of President Roosevelt, and in 1936 he was elected Governor of Michigan. He failed of re-election in 1938, whereupon, Mr. Roosevelt appointed him attorney general.

G. M. CHIEFS SUED BY STOCKHOLDERS

stock for $3,880,000, and for each share of Management Corporation stock held, were allocated "two and a half shares of General Motors common, fully paid at $40 a share."

The complaint further charged that organization of the Management Corporation was to enable some of the defendants to acquire large stock holdings, and was a "scheme to enable General Motors executives to speculate with General Motors stock so that General Motors would suffer all losses while the profits derived, in the event the stock increased in value, were to be divided among the participants."

Management Corporation.
The Management Corporation, Singer alleged, received 1,375,000 shares of General Motors common at $40 per share, and paid "or pretended to pay to General Motors" 50,000 shares of Management stock and $50,000,000 par value of its six per cent, seven-year serial bonds.

It was agreed, the complaint contended, between the two corporations that for seven years General Motors would pay the Management Corporation five per cent of its net earnings after deducting seven per cent on the amount of net capital employed, the latter amount to be "used in connection with retirement of $7,000,000 in serial bonds."

In event of default, it was further alleged, General Motors was to purchase Management assets and retire outstanding bonds, but after defaults in 1932 and 1934, the agreement was modified, certain outstanding bonds were cancelled and a new five per cent series was issued.

As a result of the plan, Singer asserted, major executives of General Motors received 956,000 shares of common stock, over and above their regular compensation, "causing a waste of more than $75,000,000 in assets of General Motors."

GENERAL MOTORS IS FOUND GUILTY

SOUTH END, Ind., Nov. 16.—(AP)—A jury in federal court here tonight convicted the General Motors Corporation and three subsidiaries of violating the Sherman anti-trust act. The subsidiaries were the General Motors Sales Corporation, General Motors Acceptance Corporation and G. M. A. C. of Indiana.

The jury acquitted 17 officials of the firms.

Jurors reported to Special Judge Walter C. Lindley, of Danville, Ill., that they had reached a verdict at 3:15 o'clock, 25 hours and 40 minutes after they began deliberations.

The verdict was announced at 8:40. Lawyers and defendants had been summoned to the courtroom in the meantime.

Judge Lindley then adjourned court to 10 o'clock tomorrow morning.

NO COLUMN RULES.

NEWMAN, Ga., Nov. 16.—The Newnan Herald, Coweta county official legal organ, today published an issue completely devoid of column rules, a circumstance rare in newspaper practice. "Often uneven in print and frequently detracting from the typographical appearance of the newspaper, the column rule is hereby questioned as to reason for existence," Hanson G. HUGHES, AIDES WIN COLLIER AIRTROPHY

Trip Around World by Plane Recognized.

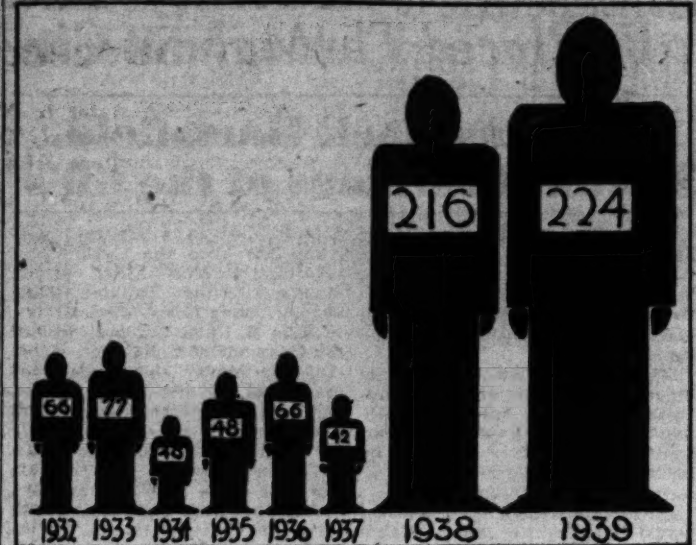

NEW YORK, Nov. 16.—(AP)—Howard Hughes, sportsman flyer and record setter, and his associates on his flight around the world last year today were announced winners of the Collier trophy "for the greatest achievement in aviation in America" in 1938.

The award, made public in the current issue of Collier's Weekly, contained the citation: "To Howard Hughes and his associates for their epoch-making round-the-world flight in 91 hours and 14 minutes. This flight involved notable advances in aerial navigation, communications and engineering; demonstrated the value of organization and planning in long-range aircraft operation and afforded a world-wide demonstration of the superiority of American aviation products and techniques."

The population of the world is believed to have more than doubled since 1800.

The foot rest in the rear compartment of 1940 De Soto sedans is undercut into the front seat, allowing more toe room and greater comfort. The leg-room in front has also been increased.

PLANT IN HARTWELL DESTROYED BY BLAZE

HARTWELL, Ga., Nov. 16.—(AP) Fire destroyed the Hartwell Matres Company's plant today. The flames, of undetermined origin, threatened adjoining buildings in the business district before they were brought under control.

NAZI RAIDERS SINK BRITISH TANKER

was held prisoner aboard the Germans. (Members of the crew were quoted as saying that they believed the raider was the Deutschland.)

Speculation arose over the whereabouts of the 10,000-ton German pocket battleships Deutschland and Admiral Scheer which have been on the loose since slipping past the British North sea blockade.

The last British report on the Deutschland said she sunk the Norwegian freighter Hansen off Newfoundland, October 14. Previously, the Deutschland was reported officially by the British to have sunk the British freighter Stonegate, 500 miles off Florida October 5, four days before the Nazi raider seized the United States freighter City of Flint.

The Admiral Scheer, which sank the British merchant ship Clement off South America September 30, was said more recently to have rounded Cape Horn and sailed into the Pacific.

Lloyd's registry lists the Africa Shell as a 706-ton tanker built in 1939 in Scotland and owned by the Shell Company of East Africa, Ltd. She was 184 feet long with a 29-foot beam.

The last report by British naval authorities on the German pocket battleships Admiral Scheer and Deutschland was on October 27 when it was said they were known to have been at sea for a month and to have sunk only three vessels, one of them a neutral ship.

The Deutschland sank the British steamer Stonegate, some 500 miles off the coast of Florida October 5. On October 9 she captured the City of Flint, American vessel, off Newfoundland, placed a prize crew aboard her and sent her to Murnansk, Russia.

The Deutschland was known to be off Newfoundland October 14, when the Norwegian ship Hansen was sunk.

On September 30 the British freighter Clement was sunk off the Brazilian coast by a surface raider identified by British sources as the Admiral Scheer. After that, British authorities considered it likely the Admiral Scheer had gone around Cape Horn into the Pacific.

In its October 27 report British naval sources said that while the two German battleships had speed and long cruising ranges, British activity had forced them to do "more cruising than raiding."

To reach the scene of the Africa Shell sinking after these exploits the Deutschland or Admiral Scheer would have had to sail from 10,000 to 7,000 miles around the Cape of Good Hope. The Admiral Scheer, to have reached Mozambique from the south Atlantic around Cape Horn, would have had to sail 18,000 miles.

SPECIAL SESSION ON SCHOOLS URGED BY DEKALB GROUP

Constitutional Amendment Providing Sales Tax To Support Education System Proposed.

Citizens of DeKalb county at a mass meeting last night, after receiving recommendations of a special committee, approved a petition asking the DeKalb delegation in the general assembly to join with other county delegations in urging a special legislative session for financial relief of the schools.

The proposed recommendations include a constitutional amendment for a general sales tax for the exclusive support of the state school system; the setting aside of $1,000,000 from the general fund for school purposes, and the appropriation by the special session of approximately $50,000 for three months' back salaries for school teachers in DeKalb county.

William Rainey, superintendent of schools in DeKalb county, urged that copies of the recommendations be sent to all 228 school superintendents in Georgia, to Governor Rivers and to all members of the general assembly.

An analysis of the state's finances was given by State Auditor

These Cops Get Their Watch—After 14 Years

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Nov. 16.—(AP)—Fourteen years ago E. D. Metten reported loss of a gold watch to police.

Today police recovered the watch in an old gold shop.

Several hours later Metten read about the recovery in a newspaper and claimed the watch.

Zach Arnold, who declared that "we are about to see the death knell for the old song and dance 'increase benefits and reduce taxes'."

Analyzing the financial plight of Georgia's schools, Arnold, in a prepared address, told the mass meeting:

"I will be very happy if I can cause you people to think seriously of the demands made on your representatives and to consider how impossible it is for them to do what is best for all the people of the state when their supporters demand or exact promises from their representatives to subscribe to the old vote-getting formula of 'increased benefits, reduced taxes.'"

Cites Comparison.—The state auditor reiterated that the state was now able to pay only 60 per cent of the $21,100,000 general fund appropriation bill, in which the common schools had a $9,637,000 interest.

"Sixty per cent of the $9,637,000 appropriation will be $5,782,200," he said, "or approximately the amount required to meet the monthly teacher bill of $1,435,000 for four months instead of the seven months as proposed in the new school law."

They will be constructed of masonry, 24 inches high and 40 inches long. All will be at eye-level and will carry inscriptions written by Wilbur G. Atlantans Back Hartsfield, Want Costumes of the 60's

Opinions in Atlanta yesterday heartily supported Mayor Hartsfield's efforts to enshrine the costumes and some of the scenic effects used in the "Gone With the Wind" movie in Atlanta's Cyclorama.

Persons consulted were unanimous in declaring that the costumes should be brought to Atlanta, but some expressed doubt as to whether they should be placed in the Cyclorama.

Mayor Hartsfield has requested David Selznick to give Atlanta these costumes, and certain scenes of old Atlanta which were reconstructed for the production. Unofficial word from Hollywood said that Selznick would donate the equipment, probably valued at $75,000, if Atlanta showed that it liked the idea, and certain scenes of old Atlanta which were reconstructed for the production.

There was always a great interest in them, especially in years to come. I believe the display will tie in nicely with the Cyclorama and attract many visitors to the city.

John Marsh, husband of Margaret Mitchell, had "no opinion." Mrs. Joseph Brennan, Junior Leaguer and one of the most active members of the "Gone With the Wind" ball committee, declared: "A marvelous idea. It will be a great addition to the Cyclorama, and much better than those stuffed birds they have there now."

Separate Museum.—"The costumes should be kept in

HIGH COURT DENIES SANDERS PETITION

The state supreme court yesterday held against the heirs of the late Lucien B. Sanders, wealthy Atlanta, in their legal fight to have the estate trust dissolved and to obtain their shares immediately.

Mrs. Sanders, to whom the estate was left during her life, recently conveyed her life interest in the property to a meeting, who, in turn, brought suit to dissolve the trust on the grounds the transfer of life interest gave them immediate fee simple title to the entire estate.

COLUMBUS' LEVY ON CHAIN STORES IS DECLARED VOID

State Supreme Court Rules Tax 'Discriminatory, Confiscatory, Arbitrary, Unreasonable'

The Columbus city tax on chain stores, graduated according to the number of stores in a chain, was ruled void yesterday by the Georgia supreme court.

The high court, declaring the tax "discriminatory, confiscatory, arbitrary and unreasonable," reversed the Muscogee superior court, which had ruled in favor of the city.

The tribunal did not rule on the constitutionality of the chain store tax in general. The decision pointed out that the state legislature has jurisdiction over general tax acts, while the courts have jurisdiction over local tax ordinances.

Scale Is Explained. Justice W. H. Duckworth wrote the opinion, which said that under its charter authority, the "city of Columbus placed upon each individual grocery store of the plaintiff (Great Atlantic and Pacific Tea Co.) an occupational tax that was five times the amount imposed upon an individual grocery store operating in the same city."

The city imposed a tax of $50 for each unit in a chain of less than 10 stores; $100 for from 10 to 40 stores; $250 from 40 to 80; $500 from 80 to 125; $750 from 125 to 200; $1,000 from 200 to 400 and $1,200 upon each unit of chains of more than 400.

State Tax Extra. An additional $200 tax is added to each unit by the state.

The A. & P. concern contended it paid $1,400 annually for each unit operated in Columbus, whereas the highest levy against any other occupation there was a $1,000 tax upon the city's electric public utility.

Augusta has a similar tax on chain stores. A case to test it is now on its way to the state supreme court.

DR. F. M. SIMONDS, OF N. Y., DIES HERE

Prominent Mining Engineer Became Ill While on Visit in Lithonia.

Rivers Amends Thanksgiving to Legal Holiday

Governor Rivers ran smack into the extreme caution of bank lawyers yesterday.

The lawyers informed him that his Thanksgiving Day proclamation, issued October 28 and officially setting aside November 23 as the day of thanks, was just fine for turkey eaters and football fans but not so good for bankers.

The proclamation lacked official designation of the day as a legal holiday within the state. The lawyers were being forced to rule that the banks couldn't close unless the legal holiday designation was stipulated. So the Governor amended his earlier proclamation. The banks will close and officials and employees will join in the festivities.

MRS. A. W. SMITH DIES UNEXPECTEDLY

Rites To Be Held Tomorrow at St. Luke's Episcopal Church.

Mrs. Ida Kendrick Smith, member of a prominent Georgia family and the widow of Alexander W. Smith, outstanding Atlanta attorney, died yesterday morning at her residence in the Ponce de Leon apartments.

A native of Americus, Mrs. Smith was the former Miss Ida Kendrick, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stillman Kendrick, but had made her home here for many years. She had long been active in the Colonial Dames and was a member of St. Luke's Episcopal church.

HEROIC WAR NURSE DIES IN PITTSBURGH

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 16.—(P)—

Complications following an operation claimed the life of Nurse Minette De Losier, who hid herself so well after heroic World War service that the French govern-

Death occurred yesterday in the quietness of her home where the modest Miss De Losier—she wouldn't disclose her age—kept out of sight the many medals bestowed by the French and American governments for devotion to duty.

for Discomforts from COLDS

use MENTHOLATUM

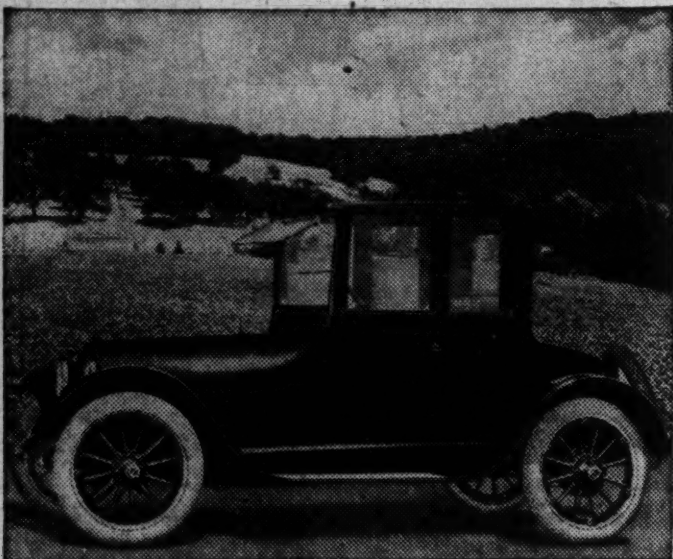

Link them together in your mind!

When colds cause sniffing, sneezing, soreness, and stuffiness in the nostrils use Mentholum. It gives quick relief from these discomforts and promotes healing of the irritated membranes in the nostrils. Its vapors also reach deep into the air passages, bringing grateful comfort. Also rub some Mentholum on your chest and back to improve the local blood circulation. Rub it on your forehead and temples to slay headache and neuralgia due to colds.

MILLIONS of FAMILIES MUST BE RIGHT!

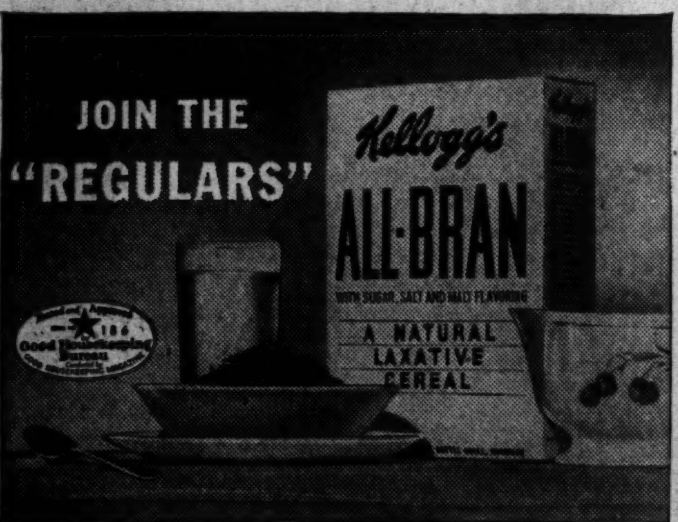

In Every Neighborhood in America there are men and women who've found a way to combat what has been called our "most common ailment"—constipation due to lack of bulk in the diet. It is simply to eat a crisp, crunchy cereal for breakfast—the famous KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN. Is there a reason for this national swing to All-Bran? There certainly is!

Years Ago, when motor cars looked like this, a great research project was conceived by W. K. Kellogg in Battle Creek. It has developed into one of the costliest and most extensive studies ever made of common constipation. Eminent nutritionists, food chemists and medical specialists on the staffs of great universities have had a part in it. And the verdict of these scientists has been the same as that of millions of All-Bran users over the last 19 years—here is a tried and proven way to combat the common form of constipation (due to lack of "bulk" in the diet).

Millions of American families eat this delicious cereal for breakfast. They find it mighty good. But the real reason they eat it is because so many of them have experienced, through years of trial, that this cereal actually does help them avoid constipation due to lack of "bulk" in the diet. In millions of homes a primary rule is: Eat ALL-BRAN for breakfast with milk or cream, and drink plenty of water. Make it your rule, too, if you have this common difficulty. But be sure to get the original double-milled All-Bran. Look for the red Kellogg signature on the package. ALL-BRAN is made only by Kellogg's in Battle Creek.

The musical portion of the program will be furnished by Johnny Green and his orchestra.

PLANTATION PARTY—Louise Massey will sing "Partner, It's the Parting of the Ways," as a highlight of the "Plantation Party" program to be heard over WAGA at 8 o'clock tonight.
The westerners, Michael Stewart and Tom, Dick and Harry also will present several musical offerings during the broadcast.

"THUNDER ROCK"—Three days after premier of the drama on Broadway, the Group Theater will present the stirring climatic scene from the second act of Robert Ardrey's "Thunder Rock" on the "Kate Smith Hour" to be heard over WGST at 7 o'clock tonight.
Instead of attempting to condense the entire play into a radio drama, the Group theater will use one entire scene, adding enough from the other acts to give listeners a comprehensive presentation.

"WALTZ TIME"—"Tomorrow Night" will be Tenor Frank Munn's featured solo during the "Waltz Time" broadcast with Abe Lyman and his orchestra when the program is heard over WSB at 8 o'clock tonight.

Are you alert and keen ... is your appetite at top peak ... do you have a full quota of red cells? OR has overwork, worry, colds and sickness caused a loss of appetite and a reduced red-blood-cell count?

That tired feeling may be a warning ... a general run-down condition may mean a lack of normal resistance.

If you feel the need of a tonic to try the tried and tested S.S.S. Tonic to improve a lagging appetite and help change weak blood cells to strong ones ... a very important step back to health.

Drive's Officials Confident Goal Will Be Approached When Last Reports Are Returned.

Community fund solicitors will gather in the Atlanta Athletic Club at 12:30 o'clock today for their final scheduled report meeting with fund leaders confident totals reported will approach the $441,403 goal set for the campaign as the minimum need of 33 participating agencies.

After hearing reports from workers at the Wednesday noon luncheon that $296,463 had been obtained in pledges to the fund, leaving $245,938 still to be raised, solicitors were urged to make every effort to complete their task by today and turn in final reports.

Southern Educators To Learn Value of New Method of Teaching.

Pictures demonstrating the advantage of audio-visual education for awakening all the senses of a child, were shown to more than 300 delegates of the third annual southern conference on audio-visual education which began its three-day session yesterday afternoon at the Biltmore hotel.

The conference, which is under the direction of Dr. J. C. Wardlaw, general chairman, and Walter S. Bell, director of visual education in the Atlanta public schools, is designed to acquaint southern educators with the newest methods of audio-visual education.

Dr. Walter D. Cocking, dean of the College of Education of the University of Georgia, addressed the conference last night on "Location and Use of Visual Materials in the Local Environment." Miss Alma Kitchell, of the National Broadcasting Company, New York city, discussed "The Contribution of Radio to the American Home."

Some 500 other delegates are expected to arrive today, many in time for the meeting at 9 o'clock this morning, at which Dr. Charles Hoban Jr., director of the motion picture project of the American Council on Education, will speak on "Successful Methods of Using Films." Dr. Alice V. Kellher, of the American Film Center, New York city, will speak at the same session.

Street-Widening Project for Gordon and Lee Is Nearing Completion

Workmen of the city construction department are rushing to completion the widening of Gordon street, shown above, to relieve traffic congestion at Gordon and Lee streets. Widening operations extend from Peoples street to Evans drive and when completed the roadway will be 48 feet between curbs, Clarke

Donaldson, chief of construction, said. The project is considered one of the most important done this year. The additional space available for traffic is shown by the black spaces beyond the electric light poles. The sidewalks are to be moved back for a distance of several blocks.

Federal Aid Sought in Plan To Repair Streets, Bridges

State and County Also Asked To Share Expenses for Atlanta's Improvements; Program Estimates $2,000,000 in Projects for City in 1940.

Federal, state and county co-operation was sought yesterday in more than $2,000,000 worth of bridge and street improvements for Atlanta in 1940.

Clarke Donaldson, chief of construction, and George B. Lyle, chairman of the city council's public works committee, mapped a program projecting six bridge and viaduct improvements, costing the city $557,580 but valued at nearly $1,000,000, several major street widenings and miles of street reconditioning.

The program was prepared as officials announced that the $100,000 Magnolia street viaduct, built by the State Highway Department at a cost of only $18,000 to the municipality, will be opened within two weeks, and the widening of Gordon street from Evans drive to Peoples street will be completed about the same time. Gordon street is a state highway and congestion at Lee and Gordon streets prompted the improvement.

Underpass Planned.
Chief among the 1940 bridge proposals is the construction of the West North avenue underpass at Marietta street, which will cost about $800,000, with the city's share set at $153,500.

Among others are:
The sum of $5,280 is asked to procure the right of way for rebuilding the West Lake avenue bridge at the A. B. & C. railroad. The city is to provide the right of way only, with the state and federal governments expending about $100,000 on the project.

Rebuilding of the west approach to the Edgewood avenue viaduct, which already has been condemned as unsafe and a traffic hazard, costing $61,800.

Reconstruction of the Jones avenue viaduct at a cost of $80,000.

Widening and rebuilding the South Boulevard underpass at a cost of $113,000. Under plans, the underpass will be widened from its 16-foot width at present to a 24-foot roadway.

To Complete Sidewalks.
Construction of the East North avenue underpass between Angier and Bonaventure avenues at a cost of $164,000.

Completion of sidewalks on Luckie and Fair streets and Techwood drive because of widening projects already made. Some of the widenings took place a dozen years ago and the city has not yet relaid sidewalks as it contracted to do when property owners donated rights-of-way for the improvements.

Widening of Porter place from Peachtree to West Peachtree street. The roadway is now 18 feet between curbs and will be 44 feet if the project is executed. No estimate of the cost can yet be made of this project, but Lyle and Donaldson stressed its importance as a relief for traffic congestion.

With a curtailed 1939 budget, Donaldson yesterday reported that about 20 miles of streets have been reconditioned through laying a new method of paving and through reclamation of gutter areas.

$35,000 Annual Cost.

Most of this work has been done in thickly populated residential districts and the total cost will be only $50,000 for the entire year.

Donaldson asserted this should be continued next year in order that "Atlanta's streets may be placed in condition for use."

The city now has about 500 miles of paved streets and about 300 miles unpaved.

Ward funds totaling about $35,000 were used in the reconditioning process, which was introduced to Atlanta by Donaldson and his assistant, Captain Rex LeFevre, in charge of streets.

Water-bound macadam is placed on the dirt street when new work must be done and pine tar is spread of the surface. This is allowed to settle from one to two years and then a bituminous mat is spread over it. While the completed job is in no way a paved street in the generally accepted term of the word, it is an excellent base for paving and will last up to 10 years in itself.

Gutter Areas Reclaimed.
Asphalt repair funds have been used in hundreds of street stretches during the year to repair holes and to reclaim badly worn gutter areas.

"In this way we have, in effect, widened several miles of streets, because the gutter areas could not be traveled at all before we put down the asphalt cappings," Donaldson explained.

Donaldson also announced that the following street stretches already have been widened this year:

Glenwood avenue from south

Moreland avenue to Flatshoals road, widened from a 40-foot street to 48 feet.

Peachtree street between 11th and 12th streets to a 60-foot roadway.

Piedmont avenue from Sherwood road to Morningside to a 60-foot roadway, and Piedmont was widened its entire length with the exception of the stretch from Westminster to Avery drives. Highland avenue was widened 10 feet between Blue Ridge and Ponce de Leon avenues.

Ponce de Leon was widened 15 feet between Highland avenue and Cleburne terrace.

Cleburne terrace was widened from 25 feet to 50 feet between Ponce de Leon and Blue Ridge avenues.

Donaldson said the city also is getting a good deal from the Atlanta Housing Authority when new projects are laid. The Authority is rebuilding old and badly worn trunk line sewers which pass beneath properties before it erects its buildings.

We're proud of the big things Constitution Want Ads do.

What the Quality Service Stores Mean to ATLANTA

WHAT IS QSS?

QSS is a buying and selling organization owned and operated by over 200 individually owned retail grocery merchants who identify their stores with the QUALITY SERVICE STORES sign.

WHAT ARE THE INITIALS?

QSS stands for Quality Service Stores. Any grocery merchant with this sign and emblem on his store means that he buys his merchandise at manufacturers' selling cost, whereby it eliminates additional handling charges, which gain is passed to his customer. At all times he does his utmost to give the finest of quality and unexcelled service at competitive prices.

WHY WAS QSS FORMED?

QSS was formed for the purpose of establishing competitive equality in food distribution by bringing to the individual merchant such advantages as mass buying and mass advertising which would be prohibitive for any individual merchant to do himself and which puts the individual merchant, who affiliates with the QSS, in a position to buy his merchandise at a lower cost, which represents lower cost to the consumers.

WHO OWNS QSS?

Each individual Quality Service Store is owned in its entirety by its operator. Each QSS operator subscribed to capital stock in the wholesale department, which enables him to be a part owner. Thus making the wholesale department owned entirely by the members of QSS.

DOES A QSS MERCHANT BUY HIS MERCHANDISE CHEAPER THAN OTHER INDIVIDUAL MERCHANTS AND AS CHEAP AS THE LARGEST COMPETITOR?

Yes. The QSS wholesale department buys from the manufacturer in carload quantities and in turn distributes this merchandise to its members at the manufacturers' cost, plus a very small charge to cover the cost of maintaining the wholesale department.

WHY CAN A QSS GROCER SELL HIS MERCHANDISE AS CHEAPLY AS HIS LARGEST COMPETITOR?

Because the QSS grocers buy their merchandise from their own wholesale department, whereby it eliminates any and all additional outside handling charges and profits, which gain is being passed to the consumer.

WHAT DOES ALL THIS MEAN TO THE HOUSEWIFE?

It simply means that her neighborhood QSS grocer, by banding together with 200 other QSS grocers, is always in a position to offer the housewife Quality merchandise at competitive prices, the service excelled by none and the personal attention of the owner of the store, who always takes pride in serving his community.

WHAT OTHER FEATURES DOES THE QSS STORES OFFER?

In addition to offering merchandise at competitive prices, most neighborhood QSS stores extend credit to any family with a good credit rating. Also each QSS store offers free telephone and delivery service.

The wholesale department and each retail QSS grocer is also affiliated with and is part of the NATIONAL RETAILER OWNED GROCERS, INC., whose membership consists of over 21,000 individually owned grocers all over America whose operation is similar to the QSS.

This N. R. O. G. is the world's largest food distributors. The combined purchases which are made by the N. R. O. G. for its 21,000 members, gigantic volume of this kind that make possible savings in the cost of manufacture, sale and delivery, represent lower costs to QSS Grocers, and in turn lower cost to consumers who buy from QUALITY SERVICE STORES.

Through the NATIONAL RETAILER OWNED GROCERS, the QSS own and control their own labels, such as Shurfine, which represents, in all its various products, only the highest possible quality. The type and class of merchandise packed under the SHURFINE label is jealously watched by both headquarters and by the members of QSS, themselves, to protect the millions of buyers of SHURFINE merchandise the nation over. In one commodity alone—SHURFINE COFFEE—NROG members in the first year of operation sold over 22,000,000 packages.

HAMILTON RALLS RAPS AAA SETUP
Says Agency Will Not Cure Farmers' Woes.
The agricultural adjustment act was likened last night to an attempt by government to console yellow fever patients by hiring nurses without making an effort to cure the disease.
Hamilton Ralls, Hogansville, formerly head of the markets bureau of the Georgia Department of Agriculture, told the Georgia Academy of Social Sciences that the AAA does not even attempt to remove the cause of farmers' distress.
"Farmers know that this is no answer to their problems," he said. "What they want is a fair and equal opportunity under government."
He said groups representing capital, industry and commerce have been able to exercise more influence on government than farmers.

REPUBLICANS GAIN IN PENNSYLVANIA
Governor's Popularity Shows an Increase Since His 1938 Election.
By DR. GEORGE GALLUP, Director, American Institute of Public Opinion.
PRINCETON, N. J., Nov. 16.—Public opinion surveys throughout the state of Pennsylvania show that Governor Arthur James, the Republican who led his party back to power in the election of 1938, has improved his position with the voters in the year since he took office.
The studies of Pennsylvania opinion were conducted by the American Institute of Public Opinion by means of cross-section samplings in all parts of the state.

EXCLUSIVE
The surveys covered the popularity of the James administration, and party sympathies for 1940. Governor James went into office a year ago with 53.8 per cent of the vote. Today's Institute survey asked voters:
"Do you approve or disapprove of Arthur James as Governor?"
The results were:
Approve 55%
Disapprove 45%
In the Institute's regular studies among Republican voters throughout the nation as a whole, Governor James receives mention as a 1940 candidate, but he is not among the top leaders in popularity.
Leaning Toward GOP.
Pennsylvania, the second largest state in the Union with 36 electoral votes, is a key state in any presidential election.
With the 1940 campaign warming up, both parties will exert every effort to win the Keystone State. At this time, Institute studies show, the race is nip and tuck. The Republicans have a slight advantage, however, as revealed in a survey in which all voters were asked:
"What party would you like to see win the presidential election in 1940?"
The vote was:
Want Republicans to win 52%
Want Democrats to win 48%

BEEF BESTS BEANS ON MENU OF ARMY

The quartermaster corps says the energy units in a truckload of beefsteak are equal to two truckloads of beans.

ICKES PARRIES QUERIES ON THIRD TERM RIDDLE
WASHINGTON, Nov. 16. (AP)—Secretary Ickes shunted aside press conference questioning today regarding President Roosevelt's third-term intentions with the comment that the chief executive was "perfectly capable of making his own statement."
Reporters had asked Ickes' views about a statement by E. B. Germany, manager of a campaign to bring the Democratic nomination to Vice President Garner. Germany expressed a belief that Mr. Roosevelt would not seek a third term.

At the Courthouse

This is a little courthouse story that has to be told in whispers. It concerns a county employee who works every day. She has a husband who works at night. Because of this arrangement and anticipating winter, she bought him an electric heating pad (the kind that takes the place of the old-fashioned hot water bottle)—last week. Names of the principals in this modern drama will be supplied only if the request is accompanied by fare and expenses to China.

Addie Frank Ballard, a negro woman who bears the strange nickname of "Donald Duck," argued well for herself when she faced Judge Virlyn B. Moore yesterday in Fulton superior court on a charge of stabbing Helen Drennon, also a negro, to death September 9. "Judge, if I hadn't killed her she'd killed me" was her defense as she entered a plea of guilty to voluntary manslaughter. The judge gave her from one to five years.

C. E. Hartsfield, brother of the mayor and known far and wide as "Charley," celebrated a birthday yesterday. He's deputy clerk of the Fulton superior court and is assigned to the second criminal division where C. Homer Gullatt, tax assessor, is now on trial on charges of defrauding the county. Though he had to work hard yesterday in court, he was guest of honor at a dinner given by his daughter, Mrs. Delmar Shelton, last night. Deputy Clerk Hartsfield is 59.

Three persons, two charged with burglary and one with larceny of a car and operating it while drunk, received suspended sentences yesterday in Judge Virlyn B. Moore's court. Lawrence Golden got 12 months suspended for burglary, and Joseph Willingham, negro, received the same on a similar charge. Austin Rolin got two 12-month sentences suspended for stealing a car and driving while drunk.

Racing News Service Ban Has Bookies 'In a Dither'

25 to 90 Per Cent Drop in Betting Business Reported; Some 'Spots' Obtain Information Despite Difficulties.

CHICAGO, Nov. 16.—(AP)—The horse race betting market crashed today.

From many cities came reports that wagering in handbooks was off from 25 to 90 per cent. But from many others came advices that bookmakers, hardly perennials of the gaming trade, were operating despite difficulty in obtaining prompt information from the tracks. "Black Thursday" found hundreds of books from coast to coast isolated. Nationwide News, Inc., which for years had supplied them with race entries, odds, running accounts, results, and payoff prices sent over a vast network of wires and loud speaker hookups, abandoned the business in the face of opposition from the government. Customers learned the voice on the amplifier which had kept them abreast of developments at the racing centers wasn't there.

A "terrific slump" was reported by Pittsburgh bookies. Some figured they could close their shops. The drop in patronage was estimated at 90 per cent in Chattanooga, Tenn., and Albany N. Y., at 75 per cent in Philadelphia and at 25 per cent or more in Los Angeles.

Wagering was at a virtual standstill in San Francisco. Portland, Oregon, gamblers stated: "Business stopped right in its tracks."

Police raided the most popular book room in Knoxville, Tenn. Other "spots" there were idle. Fourteen persons were arrested in Salt Lake City in a drive directed by the Utah attorney general's office. Some houses in Fort Worth, Texas, "closed for a few days."

Elsewhere bet barons refused to give up the gambling ghost. Hot Springs, Ark., books operated at a nearly normal rate. They received telephone reports covering all tracks. "Business as usual" was the rule in Detroit. Some Chicago establishments furnished odds, stretch positions, the order of the finish, and payoff figures to a large clientele. Sources of the service in the three cities was undisclosed.

Florida bookmakers got their returns via short wave radio from Cuba. Rhode Island bookshops apparently brought in the news from the Narragansett track over an intra-state system.

dent; Margaret Waite, treasurer, and L. L. Austin, secretary.

A new transparent plastic material is used to bond together the sheets of Hi-Test safety glass used in the 1940 Oldsmobiles. More than 150,000 persons have passed through the turnstiles at the Cyclorama painting of the Battle of Atlanta thus far this year, and the city has collected $52,574.05 from them, George I. Simons, general manager of parks, said yesterday. The city expended about $40,000 to dramatize the picture last year, and it was closed last fall. However, receipts for 1937, the largest year prior to this year, were $32,079.60.

White offered a measure at council's last meeting asking the extension, and the company agreed yesterday if the city would extend its shoppers' bus franchise to the new point.

Trial of three policemen is slated tonight at the meeting of the police committee of city council. J. C. Shillings, patrolman, is charged with driving his automobile while under the influence of liquor; L. A. Cordell, patrolman, is charged with being drunk and conduct unbecoming a gentleman, and V. S. Langdon, patrolman, is charged with conduct unbecoming a gentleman. In addition, several matters affecting traffic are on the calendar. One would establish seven one-way traffic arteries, another would bar parking in the downtown area from 7 until 9 a. m. and from 4 until 6 p. m., another would close Spring street and Piedmont avenue one-way streets during the same hours.

Attaches of City Clerk Joe L. Richardson's office have subscribed 100 per cent to the Community Fund and have doubled 1938 contributions, it was announced yesterday.

Carl Says He Won't Marry Because Of His Dangerous Mode of Living

By Margaret Gorman Nichols

SYNOPSIS.
Faith Gardner, orphaned as a child, is raised by a cross, old-fashioned aunt in a shabby house in a New Hampshire village. She is a stenographer in a factory and when the aunt dies, leaving Faith her small estate, she goes to New York. Lonely and jobless sometimes, after two years she and Gretchen Cole furnish a small apartment. By then Faith is a secretary in the firm of which Walter Edmonds is vice president. Gretchen, who left an Ohio town after a shattered romance, is a stylist in a big store. Greg Healey, employed by the Edmonds firm, takes her to a cocktail party given by Edmonds and his wife Astrid. She meets Faith graciously but Faith feels she has met an enemy as dangerous as she is beautiful. Walter presents her to Franz Bragdon, musician and composer, whom Astrid met in Hawaii. She is in love with Franz and secretly plans to divorce Walter. Edmonds' pretty, headstrong 18-year-old daughter Sue meets them, saying she has just run away from school again. Greg tells Faith that Carl is dangerous to women because he eludes them so successfully. Sue had liked Faith and at her suggestion Walter makes Faith his secretary to succeed Ann Hills who is marrying. He tells Faith that as she is not much older than Sue, he has decided to ask her to help solve the problem of how to deal with his child. NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

INSTALLMENT VIII.
When she came out, Carl was standing by the window looking at the metropolitan scene below. Again his eyes swept over her with intimacy, with curiosity and with thoughts she did not know.

His presence, a vital physical presence, had sharpened her senses. Little things she would remember of this evening which had only begun: a slim girl, waiting, smoking in the lobby, who raised heavy-lidded eyes to him as they passed, the clear beauty of the autumn night, Carl's strongly etched profile as they walked to his car, a new, long-nosed gray coupe.

"Any particular place?" he asked.

"No." She wanted a new place which would be forever memorable. . . .

He smiled at her. "You haven't called me anything yet."

"You're Carl," she said smiling, too.

"You're Faith." Starting the car, not looking at her. "It's a proper name for you. Faith. It would have been all wrong if they had called you Betty or Dottie or Peggy. Of course, something exotic would be in order with the black eyes. . . ."

"I think your name suits you very well."

He laughed again. "And now that that's settled. . . ."

They talked of the things strangers talk about. He was a deep well of information, humor and charm. You would have to probe to find his innermost thoughts. Unlike Greg, Carl was not a simple person. She suspected that he had strong likes and dislikes, that he could be stubborn and that, angered, he could be vicious. He was unlike any man she had ever known and again the strength and dominance of his personality, the vital physical presence made her feel powerless yet utterly safe.

He took her to a small exclusive place where the lights were faint and the music mellow. When the waiter went away, Carl lit a cigarette, cupped his hands and looked at her with narrowed eyes.

"Is this all right? If it isn't, we don't have to stay. I suspect you know more night places than I. This is the first time yet I've been settled in one place for a long time."

Her mouth curved. "Grounded, you said. This is lovely." It was dim and comfortably cool, the music soft, the voices low. . . .

He smiled. "You're lovely, Faith. Very disturbingly so. You seemed to have stepped out of nowhere, brand-new, just as you are, with no awkward adolescence."

"I hate to disillusion you but it was very awkward, indeed." And very unhappy.

The waiter put glasses before them and when he went away again, Carl picked up his glass. "To the beginning," he said. "I like the beginning of things--but not the end."

The beginning of us, Faith thought.

"The beginning. . . ." The glass was cold in her hand.

Carl said, "Men are very good at beginning love affairs but very poor at ending them. Would you care to dance?"

She thought, "I would like to know what you think of me and where tonight will lead me. Not to dark, tragic places. Carl, but to places clear and bright and beautiful. I've never been in love before. Don't hurt me. . . ."

They danced as if they had danced together for years. Close to him, she thought, "I don't care where it leads me. I don't care! It is as if I have stepped out of nowhere because nothing before has ever been important, so important as this."

DR. TRUETT WARNS BAPTISTS TO GUARD RELIGIOUS LIBERTY

Former Alliance President Declares Separation of State and Church Must Be Preserved.

SAN ANTONIO, Texas, Nov. 16. (AP)—Dr. George W. Truett, former president of the Baptist World Alliance, warned Baptists tonight against "insidious encroachments" upon religious liberty in the United States.

Baptists lament the loss of religious freedom and other civil rights in other sections of the world, but "it behooves us to open our eyes" to subtle and overt threats at home, he said.

Addressing the Baptist general convention of Texas, the Dallas pastor asserted:

"Call to mind the recent agitation to include church employees in federal security pensions. To be sure, such proposal was defeated by church pressure, but let the ominous fact be remembered that it was also church pressure that introduced the question into congress.

People Warned. "Take again the allocation of public funds to sectarian purposes. Bills are proposed in various states for taxes to be appropriated for sectarian schools. Right at this point all our people need to be wide awake to danger, and faithful to principle, or results will badly plague us later on."

Dr. Truett labeled the separation of church and state as the "inevitable corollary" to religious freedom, and urged that it be preserved inasmuch as "our fathers purchased this great freedom as now enjoyed at great price."

Materialism is a "deadly menace" that is "shaking the world to its very foundation," Dr. Truett asserted.

Disgraceful Blot. "The outstanding fact of ghastly persecutions, both racial and religious, continues to challenge the whole world with horror and to make a blot that is an unspeakable disgrace to civilization."

Dr. Truett reminded the convention that everywhere in Christianity the emphasis is placed upon individualism.

"It follows, therefore, logically that every man has the right to worship God according to the dictates of his conscience; and that no man or set of men, no government, religious or civil, has the right to dictate how a person may worship God or to punish him if he does not worship that way."

"For any person or institution to dare to come between the soul and God is a blasphemous impertinence. Baptists regard as an

Confederate Sword Back In Homeland

A sword carried through most of the War Between the States by the late Colonel John B. Wrenn, of the Tenth Georgia Infantry, has been returned to his daughter, Mrs. W. H. Blinn, of 407 Sydney street, by Edward K. Gould, of Rockland, Maine, the son of a Union veteran. Cards attached to the weapon indicated it was surrendered by the Confederate officer at Gettysburg. It was identified by his name engraved on the blade. Gould said he was "glad to make the restitution as a gesture of good will."

enormity any attempt to constrain men of penalty or patronage, to this or that form of religious belief."

TENNESSEE BAPTISTS CALL FOR PEACE STAND. CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., Nov. 16.—(AP)—The Tennessee Baptist convention adopted without debate today a committee report looking "with disfavor upon the United States actually participating in a European war on European soil."

"Pastors, teachers and other church leaders are called upon to prayerfully, emphatically and persistently teach our people the horrors of war and the necessity of peace," the convention said through adoption of a report submitted by the committee on social service of which the Rev. John L. Dodge, of Cleveland, was chairman.

YOUTH LESS 'WILD,' BAPTISTS ARE TOLD

Student Leader Reports on Conditions at University, Other Schools.

AUGUSTA, Ga., Nov. 16.—(AP)—A report of diminishing "wildness" among Georgia young people was brought to the state Baptist convention today by Dr. D. B. Nicholson, its student leader. Dr. Nicholson, who lives at Athens, reported "wild parties" at the University of Georgia had fallen off greatly in recent years. He said students, "disgusted with so much wildness," had made a change voluntarily with the full co-operation of the university administration.

He added the same situation prevailed at other colleges and "among young people generally."

"Gambling may be said to be on the increase," the student leader related, "but I think it is led by the young married couples and not the younger people."

Dancing Decreasing. Dr. Nicholson said interest in dancing at the university had lagged so much the student newspaper had commented that not enough attended dances to pay the orchestra.

"This is a healthy sign of the times," he asserted. His remarks were made during discussion of the convention's social service report censuring drunkenness, war, mistreatment of negroes, divorces, gambling and Sunday movies.

This report, read by Dr. W. Lee Cuts, of Atlanta, proposed a new "world war" against sin to remedy social evils lest the world be engulfed in a war of another sort.

Taking cognizance of the fact Secretary of State Hull was a vacation visitor in this city, the convention commended him for "his untiring efforts to keep our country out of European and Asiatic wars."

It pledged Baptist "prayers as he continues his efforts in these perilous times."

Just before adjournment of its three-day 118th annual meeting, attended by 690 messengers and many visitors, the convention adopted a report presented by Dr. Lucius Polhill, of Americus, naming committees or committee chairman for 1940.

A request that the convention take over or "officially recognize" the $50,000 debt Southern Industrial Orphanage near Badley will be studied by a group headed by Dr. W. T. Taliaferro and including George F. Brown, Marietta; Dr. R. Paul Caudill, Augusta; Dr. N. Baron Gibson, Valdosta, and B. M. Callaway, Atlanta. This committee will report to the convention next November at Macon.

Chairmen of other committees: State missions, J. C. Grimes, Columbus; home missions, T. S. Boehm, Sylvania; foreign missions, S. F. Dowis, Atlanta; education, Dr. Russell B. Jones, Gainesville; benevolence, A. J. Burrell, Millen; Christian Index, Dr. R. C. Young, Newnan; brotherhood, Frank Garrison, Atlanta; time, place and preacher, Dr. F. O. Mixon, Tifton; nominations, C. C. Thomas, Newnan; order of business, J. Maurice Trimmer, Macon; radio, Edward S. Preston, Rome.

Evie and 'Chip' Robert To Attend Cornerstone Laying, Birthday Party

By Sally Forth.

THOSE colorful personages, Evie and "Chip" Robert, are always fitting hither and yon to important affairs and are always in demand because of their clever and brilliant conversation. On Sunday, they will attend the laying of the cornerstone for the Roosevelt Library Foundation, on the Hyde Park estate skirting the Hudson river, which is the ancestral home of President Franklin D. Roosevelt.

The building will house the priceless documents and personal papers belonging to the chief executive of the United States, and which will be invaluable in years to come, and will tell an historical story in themselves. Evie and "Chip" will be guests at the luncheon preceding the laying of the cornerstone, as well as the reception which follows, the nationally important event.

When Doris Duke Cromwell celebrates her twenty-seventh birthday anniversary next Wednesday, Evie and "Chip" will journey to New York, city to attend the affair. Doris and her husband, Jimmy Cromwell, will be hosts at a supper-dance to commemorate the auspicious occasion at the town mansion of Mrs. James B. Duke, at the corner of Fifth avenue and Seventy-second street in the metropolis.

Doris is considered the richest woman in the world, but she is totally unspoiled about and unconscious of her wealth. South has an affectionate claim on her because her mother, the former Nannaline Holt, was reared in Macon and lived in Atlanta after she married the late William Inman.

Her father, the late James B. Duke, was a native of North Carolina, and is the generous citizen who left an endowment for Duke University at Durham, N. C. Evie and "Chip" are close friends of Doris and James Cromwell, who frequently visit them in the national capital.

CLEVER invitations were issued yesterday to a cocktail party following the Rabun Gap-Nacoochee Club horse show on November 25, the show to take place at the North Fulton park. Printed on bright yellow paper, the invitations are illustrated with three comic horse figures bearing the names Doran Williams, Jack Fain and Red Luker. The invitations read as follows:

"These three horsemen request your presence for cocktails following the Rabun Gap show, at 5457 Roswell road at Villa Fain."

WHEN pretty Maxine Crisler becomes the bride of Dr. Charles Johnston tomorrow in Canton, she will adhere to an old English bridal custom of wearing a silver sixpence in the heel of her slipper to insure good luck and happiness. The silver piece is the same which her sister, Mrs. Harry T. Lawrence, of Dalton, the former Florence Crisler, wore at her marriage. Maxine will carry a handsome real lace handkerchief, which was made especially for her to carry on her wedding day, and is the gift of a friend.

ATTRACTIVE Elizabeth Groves, who is making her debut in both Atlanta and Charleston, S. C., this season, was honored last evening at the supper-dance at which her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. L. Y. Dawson, entertained in Charleston. Elizabeth, you know, is spending several days with the Dawsons, and will bow with Charleston buds tomorrow evening at the Carolina Yacht Club ball.

Last evening's affair took place at Otranto Club, situated on a beautiful and historic plantation, covering 2,000 acres of land. Members of the historic city's debutante coterie, their escorts and a number of stags were invited to meet the Atlanta deb, the throng having assembled in the club's handsome ballroom, which is artistically furnished with priceless heirlooms.

BIRTHDAY gifts received by Martha Abernethy when November rolls around, never fail to include some unique gift from her sister, Irene, who lives in Charlotte. When the gifts were opened this year, Martha found Irene had exceeded all her former originality and ingenuity.

At first glance, Martha beheld a miniature boudoir lamp, electrically equipped and useable, of rose-colored enamel with a rather attractive and odd-appearing shade. Closer examination showed the shade to be made of pleated greenbacks, of $5 and $1 denominations. A row of small brass clamps at the top and bottom held the bills in place and formed a decorative note, as did the perky bow made of a $1 bill. Several copper and silver coins were glued to the base of the lamp and the card of good wishes which accompanied the lamp bore a picture of a bridge lamp with a gold shade.

Irene remembered Martha wished for a lamp and chose this way of letting her make her own selection.

Seminary Donates Thanksgiving Gifts.

Washington Seminary, a member of the National Needle Work Guild recently made its Thanksgiving offering to that worthy organization. Members of the domestic arts class sewed for the guild, and presented the garments recently at a fashion show at which kindergarten children modeled. The seventh grade exhibited hand-made sacks. The donated articles will be on display the day before Thanksgiving.

The seminary chapter of the Red Cross has as its representative, Miss Blanche Parks. Miss Jane Jarvis is representative of the seniors; Miss Ann Van Story, juniors; Miss Elizabeth Jones, sophomores, and Miss Ethel Lee Hill, freshman.

Of clubs at the seminary the college prep club is the oldest. The membership is composed of juniors and seniors and plan to attend college. Others are the "A" club, the dramatic club, the art club, the careers club, the travel club, and the glee club.

The first issues of the Misenema and the Echo are completed. Library week was marked by a play, "The Stitch and Knit Club," given Monday.

Ever Stop to Think That It's as Bad To Be Too Thin as Too Fat?

One Star Mixes Her Reducing And Gaining

By Ida Jean Kain.

As a rule, in citing some screen luminary as a shining example for the rest of the feminine world, her program is easily labeled "This is for the reducer." Or, sometimes, "This is for the gainer." But Connie Moore has me nonplussed. She follows both a reducing and a gaining program!

Right here let me assure you that the lovely Universal star's weight control policy will not work for you unless your weight is practically perfect. Then it would no doubt work like a charm—for Miss Moore firmly believes in being neither fat nor thin but superbly fit.

Anyone who works 16 hours a day—as the screen stars do more often than you'd think—is apt to be primarily concerned with keeping fit. But because the camera exaggerates the slightest excess, a film actress can't afford to weigh too much and Miss Moore has her own system for reducing.

"As soon as I begin to put on a little unnecessary poundage, I cut down on my food for three days. After three days the stomach shrinks and nobody wants to weigh too much and Miss Moore has her own system for reducing.

The trouble is that she occasionally works and plays too hard and tends to lose a few precious pounds.

"It is just as bad to be too thin as too fat," she says, "the camera exaggerates angles as well as bulges and if a girl is too thin the screen makes her look skeletal."

So when the screen shows signs of going down and down, Miss Moore switches over to weight-gaining measures. She drinks more milk during the day and before retiring at night takes a big bowl of hot milk, with a dab of butter and some whole wheat crackers. Also, she has bowls of walnuts all over the place. She likes them and finds it an easy way to pick up extra calories. In no time at all the scales are on their good behavior again.

What about exercise? She does not like calisthenics. But you don't have a 34-inch-bust, 25-inch waist and 35-inch hips without getting your share of exercise! Connie Moore likes tennis "along with six out of every 10 people in Hollywood." The rest of them play golf or have some other outdoor activity which keeps them in trim.

But when working she doesn't have a chance to play tennis during the day, so she sets the alarm for 5 o'clock in the morning instead of 6 to get her exercise before going to the studio. It seems that if you are really determined to get your exercise, you will find or make the time for it! And also that if you get enough, you don't have to worry about your figure!

Child Must Have Vitamin D Supplement in Some Form

By Dr. William Brady.

Foods comparatively rich in vitamin A:

Egg yolk, butter, cream, milk, cheese, dandelion greens, escarole (chicory greens), endives, beet greens, green onion tops, lettuce, parsley, spinach, turnip greens, kale, sweet potato, squash, pumpkin, ripe banana, peaches, fresh or dried; tomato and tomato juice, fresh or canned; mammalian liver, kidney, dried prunes, carrots, cabbage, kale, chard.

Scientific investigators (Percy G. Howe, of Forsyth Dental Infirmary; W. S. Wolbach, of Harvard University; Lady Mellanby, of England) have shown that when the diet contains insufficient vitamin A the teeth tend to become chalky, opaque white, brittle, due to deficient enamel formation. The dentine is likely to be exposed and the tooth then is readily infected so that caries occur. Vitamin A also controls development of the epithelium covering the gums, and any deficiency of the epithelial covering impairs the natural defense against infection.

Foods containing vitamin D: Egg yolk, milk, cream, butter, fresh or canned salmon, oysters are the only natural foods containing significant amount of vitamin D. Children can scarcely get enough vitamin D from natural foods, must have some supplementary source of vitamin D added to the daily intake, either some fish liver oil or a concentrate made from fish liver oils, or some irradiated ergosterol, which is synthetic vitamin D, or some irradiated yeast, or milk from cows fed irradiated yeast, or milk or other food irradiated (with ultraviolet light of certain wave lengths) to generate vitamin D from the ergosterol in the food, or the children themselves must be irradiated with direct sunlight on naked skin or the ultraviolet rays from a mercury-vapor quartz or other ultraviolet lamp—to generate vitamin D from the sterols in the skin.

Originally only vitamin A was recognized—later it was found that what was first called vitamin A really included also vitamin D. Hence great confusion resulted, and still prevails, in the study of these vitamins and their functions. Only recently have the pure vitamins been available in forms permitting precise study of their actions when one is present without modification by the presence of the other. Time's up. We'll continue this session tomorrow.

"Rule of Eight" Is Necessary For Beginners

By Harold Sharpsteen.

Practical application of the honor-trick table comes up at every stage in the bidding.

With four Aces, Kings, Queens, Jacks, Tens distributed around the table at every deal, we hope to receive our equal share, which would be, if perfectly dealt, one Ace, King, Queen, Jack and Ten, as:

S-A 75 D-Q 98
H-K 743 C-J 104

While such a hand is purely hypothetical, it does, nevertheless, serve as a dividing line between hands which should be passed and hands which should be bid.

TRIPLE PURPOSE.

This basic assumption of an average hand furnishes us with an easy guide to follow when deciding (1) to open the bidding; (2) to support partner's bid; (3) to double opponent's bid for penalties.

While learning to count honor-tricks, described in last Friday's Lesson No. 5, we found that in the average deal the total number of honor-tricks is 8 to 8-1-2, for simplicity's sake, 8 honor-tricks or defensive tricks.

HONORS WIN EIGHT.

In every deal of bridge 13 tricks are won. Eight will be won with these honor-cards, regardless of which side holds them. The remaining five tricks are won by lower-ranking cards which will be established after the play of the higher-ranking honors.

Application of this Rule of Eight usually determines the safe bidding limits of partnership hands, especially when the bid is no-trump.

Four honor-tricks, combined in the two hands, should make one odd... one above our book of six tricks. Five honor-tricks should make two odd. With six honors in the combined hands game should be bid. Seven to eight honors places us in the slam zone.

COMBINED HONOR STRENGTH.

Opening bidder is required to have at least 2 1-2 honor-tricks. To overcall defensively or takeout in a new suit, after the bidding has been opened, requires a minimum of 1 1-2 honor-tricks.

Woman's Quiz

Q. How may I bleach stains on furniture?

A. Allow a saturated solution of oxalic acid to dry on the wood. If the acid is in powdered form, use one ounce to one pint of hot water; if in crystal form, use two ounces to one pint of hot water. Wash the article afterwards with a weak solution of ammonia, benzine or turpentine to remove the acid.

Q. Should a three-year-old child wear mittens or gloves when he goes out to play?

A. Mittens are easier than gloves for a child to put on and take off, and are warmer. They should be comfortably large, but not awkward. They may be fastened to a tape, which is run through the child's sleeves to prevent loss or misplacement.

Q. Where can I get an inexpensive, compact and easily understandable booklet on the care of house plants?

A. A 24-page booklet "House Plants" containing full directions about soil, planing, containers and care, and a description of plants especially adapted to indoor culture, may be obtained from our Service Bureau, 1013 Thirteenth street, Washington, D. C., for 10 cents.

There was great excitement in New York recently, because a woman who is famed for her superb color-sense, was giving a "coming out" party for her new evening makeup.

The iridescence of a rare kind of pastel-tinted glass called opalescent—which this woman has a wonderful collection—was the inspiration for the exquisite makeup ensemble. For many years she has been hoping to capture the mother-of-pearl delicacy. For years she has wanted to transpose the fresh pink, the celestial blues and the milky whites of this lovely glass into soft and lovely colors for beautiful faces and hands.

Now she presents this opalescent makeup as the perfect accent to the magnificent fabrics of this season—the quaint snoods and bustles and all that goes to make up a mode more triumphantly feminine than any we have known since the romantic 19th century. It strikes the perfect balance between an exquisitely made-up look and the natural freshness of a good complexion. Its subtle flattery gives a translucent softness to skin and emphasizes one's best features.

The lipstick is an exquisite rosy hue which gives to lips an irresistible soft, glowing look—a perfect complement to the soft shades so popular for evening. The rouge, which matches exactly, gives a soft blush to cheeks and with the opalescent face powder, any face will bloom with the warm tint of a rose.

If you use eye shadow—and you should for evening—there is a delicate blue tinged with turquoise and a mascara of an intense night-blue which does amazing things for eyes. The makeup foundation harmonizes the whole complexion and lends a touch of enchantment. But she hasn't overlooked the fact that nails which arc out of tune with the color ensemble will spoil any picture. She has a lustrous nail groom that will lend that opalescent accent even to your finger tips.

A far cry from the poster-like harshness of a few years ago is this combination of delicacy and vividness that is modern chic. It has warmth and softness and a transparent glow like candlelight. Tenderly romantic, intensely feminine, this new opalescent make-up is a perfect accent to the fashions of the season. Its subtle flattery gives a translucent softness to skin and emphasizes one's best features. Joan Bennett is a lovely example, don't you think?

Work to Acquire Self-Confidence While Young

By Caroline Chatfield.

Nobody, old or young, is contented and happy in this life without a smidgen of self-confidence, and those that weren't born with it should work like the dickens while they are young to come out on top of their fears and phobias and get that smidgen necessary to any sort of successful living.

The older we grow the more we realize that faith in ourselves is a self-starter which we need in social, business and professional life. We can't make people believe in us unless we have the goods. It's impossible to land the job, or the customer or the client or the patient unless we have faith in ourselves to inspire the faith of the other fellow in us.

As far as the female of the species is concerned it's hard to find one so lacking in vanity that she feels comfortable in any company when she's conscious of being shabbily dressed and poorly groomed. The boys too have their courage stepped up considerably by a reassuring reflection from plate glass windows they pass. Watch them, old and young, twisting their necks off, straining for a last peep.

So here's the starting point for the gal who's down on her luck, afraid of her shadow, lonely and miserable. Tivvating and dressing up does things for her spirit which she cannot afford to neglect if she would come out of the chrysalis and step high, wide, and handsome.

With the nails polished, the nose powdered, the stockings straightened and the locks permanently set, it's time to take count of what's under the permanent; for this is what counts in the long run. People look at us if we are easy on the eyes but they don't tarry long unless we can put up something interesting or listen intelligently and sympathetically to what they are up to.

Newspapers, magazines, books radio fling a wealth of diversified interest at our feet. If we are such dumb clucks that we can't find some subject of vital interest we can't hope to be good companions—even to ourselves. On the other hand, when we are fairly saturated with information about any subject it spills out of us and we lose ourselves in enthusiasm to get our interest over to anybody that will listen to us.

Happily we may have the appreciative audience if we have other subjects than ourselves on the brain. Even then it's a good idea to go in reverse and do some listening; for we usually discover that the listening ear is a better antenna than science has yet devised and also we discover that the still tongue makes a wise head.

MY DAY Learning History In Pennsylvania

By Eleanor Roosevelt.

LOGAN, W. Va.—The drive from Lancaster to York, Pa., yesterday afternoon was lovely and through rich farming country. Mr. Laucks had asked us to stay and, since that was impossible, we drove up to his place and I had an opportunity to walk around the grounds. From the terrace there is a most beautiful view of the Susquehanna river. Mr. William Adams Delano, who built the house, has given it the atmosphere of intimacy which to me is the most charming thing about a French house. As you come in, the wall around the courtyard seems to shut out the outer world. One stout and aging Scotie accompanied his master around and two young and vociferous Scotties were chained up near the stable. They wriggled and jumped in their efforts to get free and follow us and, since I can never resist Scotties, I had to go and pat them.

We had a glimpse of a Japanese garden, very charmingly laid out on a hillside with a tiny waterfall dropping into a succession of pools. Off in the distance we had a glimpse of 2,000 white turkeys covering a hillside, but I did not have time to see the dairy where Mr. Laucks has some very remarkable stock. It must be most interesting to have a place of this kind which gives an opportunity for real business management and yet has great beauty. Mr. Laucks kept telling me how much he wanted the President to come to see it. I know the President would enjoy it, but I fear this visit will have to wait until Washington days are over.

In York we passed through some interesting old streets. I was much interested in a bit of history which I probably should have known; namely, that York was the seat of the first meeting of the continental congress and that the first national Thanksgiving Day was proclaimed here by George Washington after the Battle of Saratoga. No one seemed to know exactly what date this was. Perhaps that year had some of the difficulties that we are having this year.

Once at the hotel we had a few minutes to unpack. Then came a press conference, consisting largely of high school students, and a short visit from the local representative of the NYA, who brought me some interesting pictures of their projects.

The sewing project makes costumes for various school activities and for poor children, a toy project reconditions toys of every kind and has reached thousands of children every Christmas. These are projects carried on by NYA and WPA all over the country, so there was no real loss in not having time to go out to visit them.

After the lecture, we drove into Harrisburg. We are now on the train for Bluefield, W. Va., from where we drive 96 miles to Logan, W. Va.

W. C. Fields, Mae West Fight for First Billing

By Sheila Graham.

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 15.—"Mae West Versus W. C. Fields."

Mae West, as a buxom city wench named Florabelle, is run out of Chicago by every decency league in the place. She heads a west (no pun intended). On the train she meets a dilapidated traveling salesman—W. C. Fields. She thinks his carpet bag is crammed with gold. So she marries him. I arrive on the next morning.

They have registered as man and wife in a small western town hotel. Both Bill and Mae are in their respective corners, resting up for the next round.

I say to Miss West—"I understand they are thinking of calling the picture 'My Little Chickadee.'"

Mae emits a faint yell—"Over my dead body—there's too much of Fields in that title—he's been using that expression for the past 50 years."

"Have you a better title in mind?" I ask soothingly. "Yes," says Mae. "The Farmer's Daughter and The Traveling Salesman."

"But I thought you were a city girl?" I remind her. "I am—but we can put in a line to take care of that," says Mae. As I understand it, the important thing is to give Mae West first billing—the rest—with Mae's help—will take care of itself.

Mae admits that she rewrote the entire story. "But," she says—"I gave Mr. Fields a good part." Bill—who is something of a diplomat and the best ad-libber in the business—accepted "the good part" with thanks, multiplies it 200 per cent when he's in front of the camera, and is so funny that, after every new sequence, Director Edward Cline giggles, "We'll keep that in."

It's amusing to watch Mae watch Fields as he puts in an unexpected piece of business guaranteed to steal the spotlight. Her face has the look of a tigress defending her young, followed by a rather sickly smile, and a muttered moan—"He's slowing up the story." Something tells me this is going to be a very interesting picture—to write about.

"The Life of Dr. Ehrlich." "Where is Edward G. Robinson?" I ask. The studio executive with me looks around hesitatingly, then replies—"I think that's Robinson, or maybe that's his stand-in—I'm not sure." He points to a stranger wearing thick eye-glasses and an even thicker beard that covers both sides of his face, his mouth an ochre. "That's not Robinson," I state emphatically. We go over to investigate.

The voice is faintly Robinson, but the face is not. "Who are you?" I demand. "Who do you think I am?" he counters. This goes on for some time, and I have just come to the conclusion that the bearded man is Robinson, when he throws me off again by saying, "I'm in a different voice. Tell me, who do you think I am?" Luckily for me—or I'd still be there—the man grins. There is no mistaking the Robinson mouth in action. The disguise is remarkable and I defy any one of you to find the actor behind it when you see the picture on the screen.

Robinson, who has fallen heir to the Hirsute roles beloved by Paul Muni, will be glad when this picture is in the "can." "It takes me three hours in the morning to put everything on, two hours to take it off," he says. "And for an hour after that I have to be alone until the odor wears off."

At this point, Eddy is approached by ex-Debutante Wendy Igglehart, who is working for a smart fashion magazine and wants a picture of Picture Collector Robinson at home against the background of a gauze. "Sure," says Eddy. "But not in this beard—you'll have to wait until Sunday."

The new masters purchased by Robinson on his recent European trip are now on their way to this country. "They're on a French boat—but I don't know what boat, and if, or when, they'll reach here safely." He is going back to France next summer. "The war," he says optimistically, "will be over then." And echo answers—"We hope so."

The name dandelion is said to be a corruption of the French "dent-de-lion," meaning lion's tooth, referring to the shape of the leaf.

Piano Is Placed At Concert Angle

By Elizabeth MacRae Boykin.

We're pretty sentimental about home talent entertaining and so we enjoyed so much a recent visit to friends with two children who have been "taking lessons" in piano and violin. No, we don't have their recipe for getting them to practice, but we can vouch for the fact that this brother and sister team can make good music. The parents aren't performers themselves, but they have friends who are, along with as good a collection of chamber and symphony records as we know of, and their two youngsters have grown up with a realistic attitude toward such music. Maybe that's why there's been no serious problem about making them practice—it's been something that seemed important and interesting.

The piano was, of course, an important purchase in that family—in fact, it's the center of the stage in their living room, a beautiful mahogany instrument of revered quality. It is placed at concert angle with the sofa and chairs arranged at the other end of the room at good listening vantage. Besides the upholstered furniture there are four straight Chippendale side chairs—for the players of chamber music who congregate here some evenings. Then there is the radio-phonograph, also a mahogany, along with a music cabinet and a pair of tall gilt framed mirrors that screw on the wall. This is all the main furniture there is in the room, besides the incidental tables.

The colorings of the room are muted, to further accent the importance of the piano. The walls are beige with a pinkish cast, the rug is a pale cocoa color and the Chippendale chair seats are in a dull brownish-pink velvet. The draperies and sofa are of a figured linen in a brown, beige and dull pink, while the upholstered chairs are in light cocoa beige. Cushions and lamps in old blue are the only contrasting highlights. Etchings of the great composers are framed with narrow black moldings and hung in a group over the sofa.

MISS NANCY CALHOUN.

Three hundred members of the debutante and young social contingent dined and danced last evening at the Piedmont Driving Club in the name of Miss Nancy Calhoun, lovely daughter of Mrs. Andrew Calhoun, on the occasion of her formal debut.

A color motif of yellow and green featured the floral decorations, which employed myriads of palms and yellow chrysanthemums in effective arrangement throughout the club. The stately columns ranging the length of the Colonial ballroom were festooned with ropes of laurel, alternate columns being caught with huge iridescent bows of cellophane and modernistic baskets of yellow chrysanthemums. The tops of the columns were ornamented with giant Woodwardia ferns.

The elaborately decorated buffet tables, placed on the porch and in the foyer, were centered with silver bowls filled with yellow roses, snapdragons and chrysanthemums. Throughout the club, bowls of yellow flowers and masses of ferns and palms were effectively arranged.

Miss Calhoun and her mother received their guests at the far end of the ballroom, before a background of black velvet which was draped back with heavy white cord to form an artistic and

For Miss Fitzpatrick!

Miss Betty Fuller entertained recently at a luncheon at her home on Frederica street in honor of Miss Kathryn Fitzpatrick, a popular bride-elect.

The lace-covered luncheon table was centered with a crystal bowl of white chrysanthemums. Miniature old-fashioned bouquets marked the places of the guests and a bridal bouquet designated the bride-elect's place.

The hand of charming Josephine Sanders, debutante daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. O'H. Sanders, shows every mount well developed, indicating a remarkably well-rounded personality.

The shape of the fingers indicates quick sympathies and inspiration in matters of taste and art. The fingers being supple indicate adaptability. Being smooth, denote great spontaneity, an easy intuition for the beautiful.

The long, deep head line, ending in a fork, combined with a dominant fourth finger, called the finger of Mercury, indicates extreme ability, and becomes the promise of remarkable success in whatever the desires or ambitions may be. It is the hand of one possessed of strong practical views as well as imagination.

The heart line formation is one broken by many little chains and islands. There will be many friends in the life whose love and admiration she will always hold.

The hand shows many "travel lines." Some of these lines are short and many of them appear longer. This indicates that she will travel much by land and sea. Many of her travels will take her to foreign lands.

The marriage line, taken in conjunction with the heart line, foretells not only an early and happy marriage, but one whose home will always be the favorite gathering place of a charming and intimate group of friends.

On Monday—Mrs. Jennings will analyze the hand of another Atlanta debutante exclusively for The Atlanta Constitution.

The Elephant and the Mouse

Russia is not threatening anyone, according to the word of A. N. Bakh, oldest member of the Soviet Parliament and member of the Academy of Sciences.

On the other hand, continues Mr. Bakh, "Finnish reactionaries" are threatening to make war on Russia!

Doesn't that conjure an amazing picture? Poor, helpless, peace-loving and kindly Russia, quaking before the threats of war from that great bully among the nations, Finland!

Ironical effrontery of the grasping dictatorships never went further than in this inspired Bakh statement. Naturally, it was inspired. Individuals do not, publicly, make statements in the Soviet or in Germany unless they are inspired. Even Hitler, at his most naive, never surpassed the frightful mendacity of the Bakh statement about peaceful Russia and belligerent Finland.

It is a common belief that the elephant, largest of beasts, is thrown into a frenzy by fear by the sight of a mouse. Perhaps, in future, Mr. Bakh expects the world to christen the Soviet the Elephant, instead of the Bear.

Coupled with the latest Soviet accusations of Finnish threats, should be the report Germany will not formally reply to the Belgian-Dutch plea for European peace on the ground that Britain and France, by their answers, have already "closed the door." Which, as a matter of fact, is quite true and, at the same time, quite proper and inevitable.

While there continues in power, in Europe, governments which repeatedly rape and dismember weaker governments, despite their own sacredly given treaties not to commit aggression, while there are powers such as Russia and Germany which will attempt to explain their gangster methods of national theft, pillage and destruction by such fantasies as the "threatening attitude of Finland," the "unbearable viciousness of Czechoslovakia" or the "patience-destroying effrontery of Poland," there can be no talk of peace, no discussion of treaties. Peace treaties are nothing when made with governments which consider the violation of such treaties a legitimate weapon for their own aggrandizement.

Hitler may hesitate before he orders his invading armies into Holland or Belgium. It is possible that, dimly, he knows to do so would be tantamount to guaranteeing his own defeat and alienating every vestige of sympathy in every corner of the civilized world.

But, while Hitlerism exists, there can never be safety for these, or any other countries.

As for Finland, the recent Russian statements are plain to read if memory turns back to inspired pronouncements from similar sources before the partitioning of Poland, the looting of Czechoslovakia and the destruction of Austria.

Threats or no threats, Finland is, evidently, today in the most unenviable position of any of the smaller, free countries of Europe.

Highway Reopening

Announcement by the State Board of Education that the dormant school library program is to be resumed provides one of the brightest rays in the educational sky of Georgia.

Under the program $150,000 a year is to be spent on reference and supplementary books for the public schools of the state. These are books frequently needed for reference, but not of such constant use to be included in the average pupil's booklist. Their ready availability in the school library, however, supplies a very definite need.

The program was interrupted last February when it was feared there would be insufficient funds to pay for regular textbooks, purchased under the free textbook law.

There is nothing more important to the advancement of a people than familiarity with the classic reference works of knowledge. The people who do not read, wisely and extensively, are a people to whom the pathway of progress is closed. It is through study of the printed records of the past, the recordings of the progress made by those who have gone before, that we learn how to advance our own day and generation.

Some day the importance of education and of reading will be realized by those who make our laws and direct the expenditure of public moneys. When that day comes schools and libraries will never know financial stringency. The reopening of the school library program in Georgia re-opens a pathway to progress, maybe not yet broad as it should be, but one which is essential if coming generations of Georgians are to be better than that of today.

Let's Wind It Up

Today brings the scheduled final report meeting of the Community Fund workers. On Wednesday, when reports were made, it was found that solicitation had brought in somewhat more than half of the quota assigned. Thus something more than 40 per cent of the money needed to support Atlanta's agencies for social betterment during the coming year had, at that time, yet to be uncovered.

Despite optimistic explanations of the large number of firms which had not yet reported on the gifts of their employees, and other factors, it cannot be gainsaid that Atlanta should, to put it bluntly, do better than this. A campaign so well understood, so universally acknowledged as wise, essential and worthy, should show much more than half its total on hand a mere two days prior to the scheduled closing date.

Of course, at today's meeting, the gratifying report may be made that the entire $541,403 needed has been pledged. If that is done, the words printed here will prove to have been unnecessary. But there is too much likelihood that experience of some previous years will be repeated. The quota will not have been reached within the set period, faithful and determined workers will prepare to continue their heart-breaking efforts to bring in the money and, as those efforts finally die out, it will be found that the Fund is still short of its goal.

Don't let that happen again this year. Atlanta has, some years, lagged in Community Fund support behind other, and in many cases smaller, cities. No one class of society can point to any other as the cause of this. While it may be true some of the more wealthy local residents haven't given as generously as their means might warrant, it is more largely the fault of the average man and the average woman. The number of contributors has been smaller in Atlanta than in other cities. Birmingham can boast far more givers even though the average size of their pledges is slightly lower than the Atlanta average.

Remember, it would need only 54,140 individuals giving $10 each to reach the goal. Those $10 gifts may be paid on a monthly installment basis. If there are not 55,000 individuals in Greater Atlanta who can, over a year, spare $10 for such a cause as the Community Fund, this city is in much worse way than any of us have imagined in our darkest hours of civic pessimism.

Today is the final day. Come on, let's wind it up at the report meeting so it can be announced that the full quota, and a little more, has been pledged. Then we can all go back to work, catch up on the accumulated correspondence and, once again, clear the desks for the nearing visit of Santa Claus.

Miss Shepperson Resigns

Resignation of Miss Gay B. Shepperson as work project administrator for Georgia marks the end of a remarkable chapter in the career of a remarkable and most capable woman.

The position she has held since 1933, as head of the variously titled federal relief and work relief administrations in this state, is undoubtedly one of the most difficult and exacting executive tasks imaginable. It has required ability of rare order and a degree of tact and patience to be found in few individuals. That she has filled her job with such general satisfaction is the strongest possible testimonial to her inherent gifts, her enthusiastic application and her capacity for hard work.

Miss Shepperson is a native of Virginia and began her career as a school teacher. She later entered social service work and for a time was connected with the War Department at Washington, in this capacity. Next she was a field representative for the Red Cross and, from 1923 to 1928 was head of the children's bureau of the Virginia State Department of Public Welfare. She came to Georgia in 1928 to fill a similar position in the welfare department of this state.

While Miss Shepperson's successor as head of the WPA for Georgia has not yet been named, it will, in all probability, be Robert L. MacDougall, technical director of the Atlanta Housing Authority and former assistant WPA administrator, under Miss Shepperson.

Miss Shepperson has made no announcement as to her plans for the future. All who are familiar with her splendid work for the past six years will hope the continuance of her career will have Georgia as its locale. She is too valuable a citizen for any state to see her move to other fields of service, without deepest regret.

When the bomb just misses, all the neighbor nations rush telegrams to Hitler saying, "too bad"—if he knows what they mean.

An All-America back of '38 is proving a washout on the pro gridiron. Think of it—four years on the campus, with nothing to show for it but an education.

At least Mr. Browder conspires publicly, in the hearing of all and sundry. He doesn't bore from within any more than he bores generally.

THE CAPITAL PARADE

By JOSEPH ALSOP AND ROBERT KINTNER.

NATIONAL DEFENSE AND POWER WASHINGTON, Nov. 16.—In a quietly simmering controversy over national defense power needs, there is a chance for another New Deal vs. power business battle on a TVA scale. At the controversy's heart is a disagreement over whether existing power facilities are adequate to meet possible wartime requirements.

Power policy is the chief remaining preoccupation of the New Deal group in the administration. Through the National Power Policy Committee, of which Secretary of the Interior Harold I. Ickes is chairman, the New Dealers are urging the utilities companies to accept government aid in building new equipment. The utilities, fearful of a Trojan horse, are nervously arguing that their equipment is quite good enough already, thank you.

The curious thing is that the New Dealers, whose greatest pleasure used to be a good rough-and-tumble scrap with a few utilities executives, are extremely anxious to settle the controversy amicably. They say that, having signed and sealed a peace with the utilities after the capture of the Tennessee Valley, they do not wish to go to war again. The utilities executives, on the other hand, privately accuse the New Dealers of attempting to infringe the TVA peace terms, which called for no further governmental encroachments in the power business.

TANGLED TALE The controversy's history is laughably typical of the course of government-business relations. Last fall, when national defense became a pressing problem, the President named a National Defense Power Committee under Assistant Secretary of War Louis Johnson. Johnson called in Wendell L. Willkie, Edward Groesbeck, Floyd Carlisle and several other great men in the power business. Several inspirational rallies were held, but tangible results were inconspicuous. Then, a few weeks ago, the National Defense Power Committee's duties were transferred to the National Power Policy Committee, which has always been the spearhead of the New Deal's aggressive power program.

The national defense power committee's chief labor was a survey finding national power facilities "woefully lacking." On looking into the problem, the national power policy committee confirmed its predecessor's conclusions. Worst bottle-necks, according to the committee, were the lack of production capacity in certain strategic localities, and the almost complete absence of high tension transmission lines hooking the great existing systems together. The committee decided there was room for additional expenditures by the utilities of about $200,000,000 above normal. The government, it suggested, ought to put over $300,000,000 into the high tension hook-up lines (which bring no profit to the private systems) and into expansion of TVA, utilization of the St. Lawrence and other special projects. The question immediately arose as to who was to have the management of the government-financed lines and production plants.

Acting Secretary of the Navy Charles Edison, urged on by conservative advisers, complicated matters by suggesting that all government investment ought to take the form of subsidies to the utilities companies. To the members of the national power policy committee, this was sheer heresy. They voted down Edison, and arranged to attempt a deal with the utilities companies.

"FEAR THE GREEKS" Meanwhile the leaders of the power business, suspicious of their ancient enemies, had three unpleasant thoughts: (1) that another government program for the TVA was being disguised as national defense; (2) that the New Dealers were also trying to cloak a new spending program in a handsome garment; and (3) that the new high tension lines would give the government a grip on such great intra-state utilities companies as Public Service of New Jersey, Consolidated Edison and Niagara-Hudson. For all these reasons, the utilities leaders are thinking of digging their toes in, and telling the New Dealers they are Greeks bearing gifts. They have already declared that the supposed lack of power facilities is strictly imaginary.

The controversy would certainly be a grand public row, if it were not for its most striking feature—the New Dealers' desire for a friendly settlement. They have adopted a principle which seems needs by the government. They may make a deal on this basis. Pending the outcome, their good intentions are another sign of the new spirit invading the government-business relationship.

SILHOUETTES

By RALPH T. JONES.

One Night Of Seven.

There has long been a theory that, when young people slip into unsocial ways, become fodder for courts and prisons and the underworld, it is because they have lacked opportunity for normal, happy association with the right type of companions, under proper auspices.

It has been said that poolrooms, for instance, are forcing beds for crime and that many undesirable characters frequent some of these places. That innocent youngsters, merely seeking occupation for spare time, wander into these spots and, being acquainted with the undesirables, gradually become contaminated.

The answer, welfare authorities say, is to provide recreation of attractive, yet innocent, type in the right surroundings. Then, they argue, the susceptible youngsters will be in the right way and will be saved from dangerous surroundings.

Maybe. There is room for doubt, but this is, perhaps, not the place for an old skeptic to voice his pessimism.

The city of Decatur is trying an experiment. They are opening the high school as a recreation center on Monday evenings and inviting anyone who wishes to come and join the fun. There are good games there now and, as opportunity offers, more and better games will be put in.

It seems to me, however, that with such a recreation spot open on Monday evenings only, they are battling only 143 in their contest with the temptations they would defeat. That is, one-seventh, one night each week, with six left open for all the other forces to get in their wicked.

Notice, I don't leave Sunday out of the calculations. There are lots of things for young—or older—susceptibles to do on Sunday nights besides go to church.

Not To Disparage.

Don't think this criticism is intended as disparagement, in any sense, of the movement put under way in Decatur. It's fine, and, in all probability, will achieve much good. The influence of the Monday nights may, in most cases, extend over the entire week. Youngsters who learn they can have a good time under fine auspices are apt to remember that and avoid the spots where they may become tainted.

However, there is a great need at this Decatur Monday night center of recreation. The same old need that boils up and leaks at anyone who tries to do something constructive. The need for financial sinews.

There are lots of things they should have at that school, paragonia for the games. A few table tennis tables, for instance. The ones they are now using are woefully small—just rectangular tables meant for some other purpose. Someone should get big-hearted and give them a few regular tables, equipment and all.

And, while some poolrooms are not desirable, there is nothing wrong, per se, with the games of pool and billiards themselves. In fact, they are among the best of indoor sports. But billiard tables are expensive luxuries. There doesn't seem much hope of getting one or two for the recreation center, regardless of desirability.

And so on. A little imagination could extend the list indefinitely.

A Growing Institution.

This idea of supervised recreation centers is expanding, rapidly. You hear of it, all over the city, whether you visit them or not. And it is, undoubtedly, excellent. It is tackling a social problem at the roots and it should show results in crime and delinquency reduction.

By the way, did you notice one of the items in that recently reported WPA survey of Atlanta social conditions? It isn't the 'teen ages, after all, that provide most of our criminals. The greater number of arrests are of people older, around the 25 to 30-year period.

But isn't it true that, even if the fruit by which you eventually know them does ripen before 25, it is the influences of earlier years, the kind of home and church and school and recreation surroundings they have known in adolescence, that brings its results in the police station and the criminal court a few years later.

I'm delighted to see the establishment of the new recreation center in the Decatur High school, even though I do wish they could be active, accommodating all they have room for, seven nights a week instead of one. And that somebody would provide the play equipment which is so vitally needed.

Twenty-Five Years Ago Today.

From the news columns of Tuesday, November 17, 1914:

"Rome, November 16.—The pope today caused to be published his announced encyclical urging peace among the warring nations of Europe."

And Fifty Years Ago.

From the news columns of Sunday, November 17, 1889:

"One of Atlanta's gifted women has in press a book that will create a sensation, so it is said. It is 'The Biography of the Devil.' Several of Atlanta's prominent citizens intend to sue out an injunction against the sale of the book; they do not want their lives written up."

Up in Air.

The effect of the European war reaches right in among the spangles and sawdust of the greatest show on earth and figuratively leaves a good many performers in midair.

Allen J. Lester, of Ringling Brothers and Barnum & Bailey circus, reported that many acrobats and other big top showmen were aliens, in this country only for the show's grand tour. The circus posted bonds to guarantee they would not exceed their temporary stay here.

"Now some of them have no homeland to go back to," Lester stated. "A good many others who have homelands don't want to go back."

With the circus winding up its season and getting set for a win-

FAIR ENOUGH

By WESTBROOK PEGLER.

Maverick SAN ANTONIO, Tex., Nov. 16.—Down on Luck. Maury Maverick is a little down on his luck as a result of his own exuberance and his efforts to be fair to people who have been ill-treated by that which the double-dome orators and writers call society. None of his political enemies—and they are many and bitter—can deny or explain away the fact that nobody did anything about wiping out the slums of San Antonio until Maverick came along. Of course, the more practical way to wipe them out would be to use a match and a good robust northern, but there might be some law against that.

I don't believe I can wrap him up in a neat bundle, but for a start will venture an opinion that he is a contracted ink poisoning in Washington, whereby in his two terms as a New Deal representative he was pretty well greased with publicity by New Deal reporters and commentators. There are a lot of them in Washington who get crutches on their knees and crutches on their eyes, and when a Texan hung out a sign as a Progressive, even a Radical, and voted for wages and hours, labor relations and the anti-lynching bill they made him not only famous but picturesque.

It is my impression that it is the matter of picturesqueness he made the mistake of trying to live up to his billing, which he pops off too much with superficial or incomplete remarks which make publicity but do not clarify his meaning and, worse, make him the enemy of people who are going his way. The Harold Ickes-Donald Duck type of political repartee is amusing for a spell, but it isn't statesmanship, and it may have been noticed that Florell La Guardia has buttoned up his face and is refusing to sally at all, attends to serious business in a serious way.

Just a Texan

In Washington at Home. "Just a Texan," but at home he is no more than a lot of other Texans, just as an Irishman in Ireland is no novelty, whereas an Irishman in the United States of America may become an act. Still, Maverick could be a good deal more than a Texan if he had a mind to, for he knows the tricks, and it is to his credit that he hasn't done so, for he has taken his lumps and right now is under indictment on a charge of paying poll taxes for a lot of members of the International Ladies Garment Workers Union in the election which made him mayor.

This is a political indictment, but it is not frivolous, and John Shook, the prosecutor, a Texan just as fiery as Maverick, who went to school with him, and has known him all that time, seems determined to move him in. The poll tax is an archaic institution which always has been abused by corporations and machines, and, not granting that Maverick did pay those taxes and thus, in effect, buy his way into office, it would be no more ethical or legal for a reformer than for the oil interests to do so.

Maverick has been accused of being a Communist and of sympathizing with them, because in his mayoralty campaign he carried the Mexicans and the impoverished model T trade, and because after election he let the Communists hold a meeting in a public hall. He explains, however, that he doesn't give a damn for the Communists, the CIO, the AFL or the Railway Brotherhood as such, but does see considerable store by civil liberties.

Did Not Surrender.

One union—not to say which one—return for its support, wanted to name the chief of police, having in mind a man who would stand for roughness and murder on the picket lines. Maverick refused and in another case refused to hold the police for a strike, which the union representative said, was all they needed to win it, presumably by tossing a few firecrackers into an unprotected plant. Unions, like corporations and all other interests, think they own a man once they have made an important contribution to his election.

I wanted to quote him on Communists and asked him if he thought they ever did a candidate any good with their support. "No good at all," he said. "They don't believe in civil liberties, and they are in wrong with other people. I dislike them for personal reasons, too. I have been getting them out of trouble for 20 years, and then not only the other people but the Communists themselves are taking me around anyway. Communists bore me." The line between the picturesque and the grotesque is thin and meandering, and Mr. Maverick, a man of good political fiber, after perusing his clippings, sometimes has overstepped it.

ONE WORD MORE

By RALPH MC GILL.

MISS GAY SHEPPERSON The phrase "A Man's Job" is employed to mean a job of large proportions. And when they say someone has done a man's job, it means a difficult job has been well done.

I doubt if there is a man anywhere who has done a job of administering WPA as well as Miss Gay Shepperson, whose request for retirement was published in this newspaper yesterday morning. No man the government of the United States had in a similar position did the job as well as she.

Not enough persons knew Miss Gay Shepperson and even fewer understood her job. I think it fair to say no administrator of the future will have to face the problems that were hers. One may at least hope not. She came through the depression.

I doubt if any man, large or small, could have stood up under the pressure that was applied. She was so strictly honest that even some of the more ardent New Dealers tried to get her out of the job. That was when they attempted to move the WPA into politics. If you wish a specific instance I will give it. Some of the somewhat hysterical New Dealers sought to have unusual pressure put on Miss Shepperson in the famous "purge" of last summer. They wanted her to violate the law, or at least wink at it. They forgot they were not the real New Dealers but that persons such as Miss Gay Shepperson were the ones who gave the real character to the New Deal and were those who caused confidence to be retained in it.

The people of Georgia have confidence in WPA. There have been no WPA scandals in Georgia such as caused justifiable anger in other sections where men were on the job.

No woman in Georgia has done a job better than Miss Shepperson. Or one as good.

And I doubt if there has been a man who would do a better job. She has done a man's job and done it well.

STATE PRESSURE During the depression, when WPA was being organized, there was a desperate effort made by the state administration of that period to take control of WPA funds.

Miss Shepperson did not approve, for very good and sound reasons, of the state program, and said so. There were efforts made to force her out. There was some heavy-handed humor about a woman being in the job.

But, the persons in Washington believed in her and friends stood by. So, Washington called off the committee arrangement and decided on the administrator plan.

This was fortunate. If WPA money, which was, in some quarters, abused and mismanaged, had ever got into the control of state politicians, the nation over, the abuse would have been magnified and the scandals would have made those which did occur seem puny in comparison.

Georgia has many WPA "projects." Not a one of them is unsound. There have been criticisms and there are critics. Yet not one has been able to make any headway or gain any ground.

They were up against an intelligent, courageous, capable woman and, of course, they did not have a chance. Who does, against that combination?

PINE MOUNTAIN VALLEY

Another of her jobs was putting Tap Bennett in charge at Pine Mountain Valley, the finest rehabilitation project in America. Tap Bennett has many of the Shepperson characteristics of blunt honesty, ability and willingness to tackle difficult problems. He and Miss Shepperson took Pine Mountain Valley when it was an economic shambles and made it into something very worthwhile. There were others on the committee with Miss Shepperson. I think they will not mind if it is said they were so busy they left most of the work to her. She did the job.

And that, too, was a man-sized job.

A SCHOOL TEACHER She was a school teacher and an expert on the social rehabilitation of children before she took the government job. She was an expert. The "brain trust" idea was a good one. The trouble was the New Deal made the entry requirements too loose. If all the appointments had been of the caliber of Miss Shepperson this now would be a better world in which to dwell. She has had the responsibility of spending millions of dollars and the record is good.

She now retires for a much-deserved rest. It will be most unfortunate if her intelligence and her ability are lost to the government service. There are bigger jobs for her and if the government can persuade her to take one, when she has rested, it will be doing the citizens of this country a favor.

Robert L. MacDougall, who is slated to succeed her, himself is an able man. He can stand the gaff. It is a bit astonishing that Georgia should be fortunate enough to have one able person follow another in so important a position.

Chiefly, though, I just wanted to have my say about Miss Gay.

The One Way To Make A Friend Is To Be One

By ROBERT QUILLEN.

A group sitting around a table began to discuss friendship, whereupon a highly cultured widow remarked that her husband had said to her after their marriage: "Always remember that you can count on the fingers of one hand the people you can really count on." She remembered feeling sorry for him and refusing to believe that he was right, nor had decades of ups and downs altered her opinion.

Strangely enough, the ladies in the group agreed with her while the men believed that her husband had erred only in being too optimistic.

Of course, the true answer depends wholly upon what is meant by "counting on" people.

An acquaintance of mine had a friend of whom he could and did count for various small services. And in the course of time he paid the debt of paying his friend's hospital bill and later sending his orphan son through college.

This acquaintance was not an extrovert, and lacked the hall-fellow knack of making a friend, but he had a great capacity for friendship. Scores of hundreds of others might have counted on him for his last dollar if they had known him well enough and liked him well enough to pay in kind and give him reason to count on them.

And that is the root of the matter, for all normal people have a capacity for both friendship and gratitude, and most of them would give their shirts to any friend they could count on to do as much for them.

If there is little Damon and Pythias stuff, it is partly because there is little occasion for such sacrifice and partly because our way of life gives us little opportunity to develop such friendships.

Money, more than anything else, prevents the development of deep loyalties. The rich man, made cynical by experience, thinks everybody has designs on his money; and others who might become friends are kept apart by their competition for the same dollar. The love of money is the root of all suspicion.

Where money doesn't interfere, any two congenial and unselfish people may develop a lasting loyalty to one another merely by serving and learning to trust one another. And thus a man might accumulate scores to "count on" if as many have reason to "count on" him. It is fun to help a friend who would do as much for you. The thing that holds us back is the fear of being suckers.

"Prison Shoes"

Nazis Boast They'll Free World of England's 'Might'

Sir John Simon, Speaking for Chamberlain, Declares German Ships Driven Virtually Off Seas; Reveals That Six Fell Prey Last Week.

LONDON, Nov. 16.—(AP)—As Prime Minister Chamberlain today discounted Great Britain's naval losses as "the price we pay for command of the seas" and announced six German merchantmen fell prey to the British navy in the last week, an inspired announcement in Berlin said Germany "must liberate Europe from the unbearable yoke of British rule of night."

The British announcement was made in the weekly report on the war to the house of commons, a statement read by Chancellor of the Exchequer Sir John Simon because the prime minister still was suffering from gout.

"Our own merchant ships continue to move in great numbers across the seas," Chamberlain reported, "while the merchant ships of Germany remain for the most part in their own or neutral ports."

"Of those which leave harbor, a great proportion are either captured or scuttled to avoid capture."

A press association, shortly before Sir John read the statement, reported the capture of the 989-ton German steamer Lander by a British cruiser. The crew of about 30 was interned.

The British steamer Newton Beech, 6,451 tons, was reported overdue.

The admiralty announced last Monday that the German steamer Mecklenburg, 8,000 tons, and the Parana, 6,038 tons, had been sunk by British warships after their crews had abandoned them in sinking condition.

Coinciding with the prime minister's report of sea successes was publication of a new edition of "Jane's Fighting Ships," authoritative British naval annual.

The work reported that Britain's navy outnumbered Germany's in every classification except torpedo boats and submarines.

Listing the units of each at the beginning of the year, the annual credited Germany with 65 submarines against Britain's 57; 12 torpedo boats against none; and 30 motor torpedo boats to 26.

(Germany has acknowledged the loss of only three submarines since the beginning of the war; Britain has given as her losses the battleship Royal Oak, the aircraft carrier Courageous, the submarine Olex, an unidentified destroyer and a trawler used as an auxiliary ship.)

Britain's leadership over Germany in other classifications was given as follows: Capital ships, 15 to five; aircraft carriers, six to none; heavy cruisers, 15 to two; other cruisers, 43 to six; anti-aircraft ships, six to none; and destroyers, 179 to 22.

The German proclamation of an offensive rather than a defensive war aim was the Reich's reply to British-French failure to accept King Leopold's and Queen Wilhelmina's mediation offer, authorized sources said.

The statement recalled a remark made by a high-ranking Nazi to newspapermen the week before Germany started her invasion of Poland September 1.

"If Engels work up steam, with Poland," the Nazi said then, "the price will be destruction of the British empire."

For several weeks no statement of German war aims had been made as specific as that given foreign correspondents today. All German evening papers printed the declaration.

The press was unanimous in declaring that British world domination must be destroyed.

Deutsche Allgemeine Zeitung declared that England's "proclamation of our destruction as her war aim can, of course, be replied to only in kind."

Belgium To Sit Tight.
(A Belgian foreign office spokesman said that Germany's reply to the Belgian Netherlands mediation offer was received as "ending this phase of negotiations." He indicated Belgium at present contemplated no new move for peace.)

The German reply held that Britain and France already had turned the mediation offer down.)

As if to show the Reich means business in the war, newspapers announced that the Friedrich Krupp Company, of Essen, Germany's largest munitions manufacturers, had floated a $16,000,000 loan for new construction work.

GOOD MORNING

By LOUIE D. NEWTON.

THE MOST BEAUTIFUL

What can one say of this autumn? Where is there a poet to be found who could express what we have felt through the days and weeks since summer yielded her largesse of bounty to autumn's golden touch? Absence of rain has brought acute suffering to some forms of life, and has left its penalty even in the deeper hues of color which we might have had, but which it has been the most beautiful autumn I have ever seen.

The days have been so beautiful, with skies the bluest, sunrises and sunsets the most sublime. The nights have been so beautiful, with moon and stars seeming nearer than ever before. The birds have been singing as though they knew no winter. The trees have stood in marvelous pageantry of God's own painting. Of this autumn I could miss the message of this autumn.

With Bliss Carman I have been singing:

Lord of the far horizons,
Give us the eyes to see
Over the verge of the sundown
The beauty that is to be.

Give us the skill to fashion
The task of Thy command,
Eager to follow the pattern
We may not understand.

And I have the deep and abiding feeling that in countless hearts all about us has been born the desire to walk with the Lord. I seem to see it in the faces of the people I meet. I seem to feel it in the letters I receive. With all my heart I believe that the world is growing better. The jar and tumult of Satan's desperate efforts are in full evidence. I know that. But vastly greater is the evidence that many are heeding that admonition of the Book:

"Be still, and know that I am God."

Prayer wings its flight above the mountains and the sea, above the clouds, however dark and wild. Above the rage of tempest and of storm, all-merciful Jehovah hears His Child. In silent midnight or the brightest noon-tide hour, mid crash of thrones or empire's slow decay, faith kneels in converse with high heaven, and claims the strength for every passing day. Cease not to pray, dear friend of mine. Pray evermore. Conquest is meted to the constant soul. Viewless the wings that bear thee high, but still their myriads answer Heaven's control.

SOCIAL SECURITY CHANGE PREDICTED

McNutt Confers With Roosevelt, Supposed To Have Talked Politics.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 16.—(UP)—Major changes in the Social Security law to lift the economic status of millions of unfortunate Americans will be high on the list of the administration measures proposed at the next session of congress, it was reported tonight.

Credence was lent to these reports by a conference today between Federal Security Administrator Paul V. McNutt and President Roosevelt. The meeting had attracted wide attention, not only because it had been expected to give an insight into the administration's security plans, but because of political implications.

It was presumed that the Chief Executive today reviewed the political situation with McNutt as he has done from time to time with other White House callers. McNutt has been extremely active lately and the cheer which he exuded as he left the President's office today did not indicate that he had been reprimanded for so doing.

McNutt is actively campaigning for the 1940 Democratic presidential nomination. He has offered to withdraw if the President sought a third term. Mr. Roosevelt has insisted that he is not favoring McNutt's candidacy over that of other Democrats and that his appointment of McNutt to the security post, in which he would become better known to America's millions, was not intended to be a boost for the handsome Hoosier.

NEELY GIVES TIPS

TO TECH STUDENTS

Says Advancement May Not Be Rapid.

"What Industry Expects of the College Graduate" was the topic of an address by Frank H. Neely, executive vice president and general manager of Rich, Inc., in the first of a series of talks before the Industrial Management Society of Georgia Tech.

Warning his listeners that the young man going into business should not expect to advance too rapidly, he declared that one of the most important things for them to learn is "the handling of men."

The warning was made by official D. N. B. agency in reply to reports that Britain is preparing to use foreign trade as a weapon against Germany and invade markets hitherto dominated by the Reich.

Dr. C. J. Koerth, nationally-recognized authority on the prevention and cure of tuberculosis, will speak at 8 o'clock Monday night at the Kimball House under the auspices of the Woodmen of the World.

The lecture is free and will be illustrated with moving pictures showing a patient receiving sanitarium treatment in all of its phases. As former superintendent of the World War Memorial hospital at San Antonio, Texas, Dr. Koerth has had wide experience in his field.

165 BRITISH AIRMEN KILLED DURING WAR

LONDON, Nov. 16.—(AP)—A royal air force casualty list published today raised to 165 the number of airmen killed since the start of the war.

The list showed seven killed in action, bringing the total under that heading to 39. Also included were 23 "killed in active service" which covers training accidents and other causes.

Prior to today's list, 135 R. A. F. men had been reported dead from all causes.

Tension Eased in Helsinki Despite New Red Attacks

English Residents and Natives Filtering Back to Capital Although Government Doesn't Encourage Such Action; Defense Loan Oversubscribed.

HELSINKI, Nov. 16.—(AP)—Tension relaxed noticeably in Finland's capital tonight for the first time since Russia, more than five weeks ago, presented this little republic with proposals for territorial changes.

A number of English residents who left for the countryside at the height of the anxiety over the Finnish-Russian negotiations are returning, and so also are many Finns, although the government has not encouraged such action.

The cabinet met for an hour and discussed with party leaders the suspended Moscow parleys, which Finns considered closed now unless reopened by the Russians with new proposals.

(The Moscow press intensified attacks on Finnish foreign policy Thursday, quoting an Estonian newspaper as saying Finland's "obduracy" was impairing her relations with Russia. Tass, official Soviet news agency, charged in a dispatch from Helsinki that Finns were being taught by "the Russian bourgeoisie" with encouragement of "the English bourgeoisie.")

A defense loan of 50,000,000 marks (about $9,300,000) was oversubscribed today by 10,000,000 marks ($1,860,000).

Foreign Minister Elias Erkko spent most of the day at the 50th anniversary celebration of the Helsinki Sanomat, newspaper of which he is publisher and former editor-in-chief.

Eileen Herrick Free to Marry, Mother Says in Dropping Protest

Broadway Romeo May See Socialite as Often as She Wants Him to, and Wed Her Also, After She Has Rested 10 Days in Hospital.

NEW YORK, Nov. 16.—(AP)—Eileen Herrick's socially prominent parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter E. Herrick, withdrew all their objections today to her proposed marriage to George Lowther III. Thus ended an extraordinary controversy in which the young girl, support herself and make up her own mind.

"She's slim enough to be a model—(Miss Stedman, who in her fashionable blonde hair is about as beautiful as is the dark and fetching Eileen, is a model in a little shop that charges big bills)—and she's pretty."

"She ought to get a job and stand on her own feet and make up her mind later on about marriage."

"They are both so emotionally upset that I think they should wait little while before deciding on the wedding day."

Eileen herself was silent in the hospital in which she had promised to spend ten days before seeing Lowther, the haven to which she said she'd gone because it was more peaceful than home.

She had made it pretty clear yesterday, however, that she wanted to marry Lowther soon.

The principal objections of the principals summed up:

Justice Isidor Wasservogel, who got them all to reach yesterday's compromise: Miss Herrick ought to listen to her parents, but if she insists on marrying Lowther she has a right to.

Miss Stedman: She oughtn't to marry until she had thought it all over.

George Lowther: She ought to marry George Lowther—and at once.

The Herricks: She oughtn't to marry George Lowther at all. But if she insists—well...

ROCKY MOUNT, N. C., Nov. 16.—(AP)—A sharp warning to Belgium not to co-operate in British blockade measures and a threat to bring to an end shipping between neutral ports of cargoes suspected of being destined for Britain was made today in a front page editorial in the Voelksiche Beobachter, official organ of the Nazi party.

"The German government has been watching these goings-on for several weeks," the editorial said. "It is determined now to put a stop to them."

The Beobachter's editorial followed an official warning late yesterday to neutral nations that if they "submit" to British domination of their markets now they will face a severe crisis after the war and will be "abandoned to their fate" by the British.

The warning was made by official D. N. B. agency in reply to reports that Britain is preparing to use foreign trade as a weapon against Germany and invade markets hitherto dominated by the Reich.

"I believed Mr. Stark is eminently qualified for the office and will make the circuit a capable official," Rivers said.

"There was a wealth of good lawyers to choose from."

'Schuschnigg Very Brave,' Brave Austrian Tells White

Hitler Would Consider It a Weakness to Ask War Support of Former Chancellor Who Refused to Flee, 'Jolly Old Gal' Declares.

By WILLIAM L. WHITE, Special Correspondent.
ROME, Italy (Via Airmail).—She was a very jolly old gal some-where in her sixties, the kind who wears a highneck dress which has seen better days, with a gold watch pinned to its black bodice; and stays in middle class boarding houses which are inexpensive and very respectable with artificial flowers made out of feathers protected by glass bells on the mantle.

"So you are going to Berlin?" she asked in German.

"Yes," I answered.

"Are you for the regime or against the regime?" She was looking at me sharply. So I looked at the salt shaker.

"I have no opinion on the regime," I said. "I am going to Berlin as a newspaperman."

"But they tell me that in America opinions about the regime are very strong," she continued. "I thought you would have one."

"Like all Americans I am very strong for liberty and democracy in my own country."

"That is good," she said.

"But Germany is another country, and its government is no affair of mine."

"You are German?" I asked.

"But no," she answered with considerable warmth.

"Then what are you, may I ask?"

"I am Austrian," she said proudly. "Of course in these days I must have a German passport. But I am Austrian."

"In America, there was a story that the regime is keeping your former Austrian Chancellor Schuschnigg a prisoner in a hotel, and every day they beat him because he will not sign a statement asking Austrians to support this war."

"Yes, I have also heard this was printed in the American papers, but, if you pardon me, I do not believe."

"Because Hitler considers himself as master of all Austria. To ask Schuschnigg for support would be to admit weakness, which Hitler would never do. He thinks of Schuschnigg as nothing. This he would never ask."

"But the rest of the story is true, I think. That they kept Schuschnigg prisoner in the Metropole hotel in Vienna is true, although now no one knows where he is for sure. That they beat him is probably true. It is sure that he will never come out sane in mind."

"In America we considered Schuschnigg a very brave man."

"When the Frusians came in, they gave orders to let Schuschnigg escape. All the frontier guards were told, we hear, to let him go into Switzerland if he liked. But he would not go. What happened to his friends he wanted also to happen to him. This is what we hear in Austria."

"He must be a very very brave man."

"So we know in Austria, too. But—here she smiled—"you must not write for your American papers that I say I think Schuschnigg is brave, because then the German police in Austria will take me and shoot me." But there was not a trace of fear in the brave laugh of the old lady as she put her napkin into its ring at the pension table.

Only maybe she was not old and maybe she was not in a pension and maybe she was not even a lady, and maybe all this was lispied tenderly into my ear in the middle of the grand ballroom of the Hotel Excelsior by an old man with a long white beard with whom I happened to be waiting.

In America the cops have never helped or hindered me in my work, so I have never helped or hindered them in theirs, and I think this is a sensible rule to follow in any country.

May Try Again.

He admitted that in case "The Biscuit Eater" was the success he hoped it would be, he himself would be sorely tempted to have another fling at local color in Georgia.

He said the company was spending about $350,000 on the picture, most of it in this community, which took the company to its heart and the company to its head for including the key to the city auditorium for inside sets.

Freeman said the shooting would be finished not later than December 2, and the picture would be released early next year.

MEXICO PLANNING REFUGEE COLONY

1,500 Families Also Will Be Repatriated.

MEXICO CITY, Nov. 16.—(AP)—A project for the immediate colonization of 3,000 families, including 1,500 refugee families from Germany, Czechoslovakia, Poland and Austria, in the southern Mexican state of Tabasco was announced tonight by Francisco Trujillo Gurria, governor of the state.

The other 1,500 families, the Governor said, would be Mexicans desiring repatriation. The federal government will bear the expense of the Mexican colonists.

Freed Capone, in Hospital, Still Under G-Men's Eyes

Ailing Former Chicago Gangland Chief Will Be Treated for Form of Brain Paralysis; Tells Justice Department He Is Now Going Straight.

BALTIMORE, Nov. 16. (AP)—"Scarface" Al Capone, ailing former Chicago gangland chief, entered a hospital here today, technically free after seven years in prison, but actually still under the surveillance of the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

Capone and three members of his family—believed to be his wife, mother and a brother—slipped into Union Memorial hospital shortly after noon.

A few hours earlier Capone had been delivered at the federal penitentiary at Lewisburg, Pa., where his formal release was effected.

Brain Paralysis. Capone will be treated for paresis, a form of brain paralysis with which he became afflicted at Alcatraz federal prison, where he served time for violation of the federal income tax laws.

(A United Press dispatch last night said a heavy police guard had been placed about the hospital. The action was seen as a precautionary move to prevent "gangland justice" from being visited on the one-time Chicago gang boss.

(Police Commissioner Robert Stanton flatly refused to explain reasons behind posting the guards, or to say whether threats had been made against the ex-convict.)

Hospital officials declined to discuss the case, but from Washington, Attorney General Murphy said Capone would be here for "at least three weeks" and after his discharge, planned to go to Miami, Fla.

Says He'll Go Straight. Murphy said Capone and members of his family had assured the Justice Department that the former gang leader was "going straight and not going to get mixed up in illegal activities." Murphy said three federal agents had been ordered to keep Capone under surveillance "because certain things have come to our attention." These pertained partly to Capone's physical condition, he indicated.

While hospital officials declined to discuss the condition of the patient, Dr. Clyde D. Frost, superintendent, said attaches who witnessed the arrival described Capone as "apparently in good health."

"They thought he looked just about the same as in his old pictures," the superintendent said. Doctors Doubtful.

(A United Press dispatch, however, said that Capone's case of paresis was so far advanced that physicians doubt his recovery. After an examination by hospital physicians, the dispatch said, he was reportedly pronounced in an almost hopeless condition. Unless he shows considerable improvement, it was said, it may be necessary to transfer him to a nearby institution which has "adequate facilities" for treating advanced mental diseases.)

From the $30-a-day, two-room suite at the hospital, members of the family urged hospital authorities to "avoid publicity." They said one member of the family would occupy the room adjoining Capone's at all times, and the others would take up residence outside the hospital.

Seclusion Closes. While the seclusion of the modern, midtown hospital closed about Capone, Chicago authorities asserted the slaying a week ago of Turfman Edward J. O'Hare was "a Capone job," and the federal government prepared to present him with a bill for $350,000 for back income taxes.

TREASURY OFFICIAL HITS ECCLES PLAN

Feud With Reserve Board Renewed Over Proposal to Increase Revenue.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 16. (AP)—A hot repudiation from the treasury of the tax boosting program of Chairman Marriner S. Eccles, of the Federal Reserve Board, flared into open flame again today as the smoldering feud between the agencies.

John W. Hanes, acting treasury secretary, belligerently informed reporters that Eccles did not speak for the administration, congress, or the treasury when it came to taxes.

It was the first serious break between the agencies since the treasury was reported to have protested Federal Reserve Board bond market operations in September. It was only the latest disagreement, however, of a series going back to 1934.

Favors Spending. Eccles, a former Mormon missionary and Utah banker, has been the most outspoken administration advocate of deficit spending as a means of overcoming depression. Treasury Secretary Henry Morgenthau Jr., a gentleman farmer from President Roosevelt's native Dutchess county, N. Y., has meanwhile silently opposed spending, except for relief—personal loyalty to the President keeping him from open debate with Eccles.

Morgenthau was en route to a vacation on an Arizona ranch when Eccles told a group of St. Louis bankers last Friday night that taxes on small incomes should be increased by cutting exemptions and raising rates in the $5,000-to-$50,000 brackets.

Hanes Replies. Hanes, as acting secretary and an avowed opponent of taxes that might hinder business, replied: "I don't think he (Eccles) spoke for the administration. I doubt seriously if he spoke for congress. I am certain he didn't speak for the treasury."

The administration, Hanes continued, has no fixed tax plan yet. It is waiting to sift thousands of suggestions solicited this summer from businessmen and also is waiting to get a better idea of how much recent business improvements might increase federal revenue with out changing tax rates.

JUDGE GEORGE MARTIN AGAIN IS EXONERATED ALBANY, N. Y., Nov. 16. (AP)—Kings County (Brooklyn) Judge George W. Martin won New York senate exoneration of alleged "misconduct" today and gained his second victory within a year over charges that threatened his ouster from the $25,000-a-year bench he has occupied since 1920.

The 63-year-old jurist, who heard a Kings county jury acquit him last June of accepting a $1,000 bribe to quash an abortion case, lay ill of diabetes in a New York City hospital as the senate voted, 28 to 19, for rejection of Democratic Governor Herbert H. Lehman's recommendation that he be removed.

INHERITANCE TAX LAW HELD VAGUE

Georgia High Court Says Act Fails to Designate U. S. Statute in Claim.

The Georgia inheritance tax law is vague in a provision that the state can take 80 per cent of any inheritance tax paid the federal government, the state supreme court ruled yesterday.

The high court pointed out that there are three separate federal inheritance tax acts, and the Georgia tax did not specify the United States act under which it was claiming 80 per cent.

"To construe the law as is contained by the state would seem to have the unreasonable effect of taking 82 per cent of all inherited property under the higher bracket schedule," the supreme court ruled.

The case, which involved only $133, was brought in the name of Governor Rivers for the state through special counsel against Lamar Camp and others, executors of the estate of C. W. Bailey, in the Floyd superior court. Had the verdict been favorable to the state, Georgia would have been in position to collect thousands of dollars from other estates.

Infant Panda, Animal Clown, Reaches Zoo

CHICAGO, Nov. 16. (AP)—Another baby giant panda, black and white animal clown, arrived at the Brookfield zoo today after a 12,000-mile trip from Central Asia.

The panda, welcomed at a railroad station by 3,000 persons, rested tonight in a cage adjoining that of Mei-mei, its future playmate. Su-lin, first panda to be exhibited in captivity, died at the Brookfield zoo last year.

The new panda, presented to the zoo by the Chicago Daily News, may be the last of the rare species to cross the Pacific ocean. Their exportation is now forbidden by the Chinese government.

Wheby, Pair, Nettles Will Fill Gibson's Place Against Tide

SOPHOMORES GET THEIR CHANCE BECAUSE OF GIBSON'S INJURY

When Billy Gibson, who plays both wingback and tailback, was hurt Wednesday, coaches immediately began grooming the above pair of sophomores to offset his loss against Alabama Saturday. On the left is Dick Bates, ace passer, who will relieve Johnny Bosch at tailback. The young man at the right is Bobby Pair, fastest man in a Jacket uniform. He will see action at wingback. Pair ran well against Kentucky last week.

Dick Bates Is Set To Relieve Bosch

Jackets in Good Spirits; Husky Line Is in Great Physical Condition.

By JACK TROY.

It may take three boys to fill the place of the injured Billy Gibson, Georgia Tech's alternate captain, and if it does, the Jackets have the boys to use against Alabama Saturday.

Tech has Earl Wheby, Bobby Pair and Jack Nettles. The first named is a senior, the next is a sophomore and the third is a boy who has distinguished himself as a member of the Tech "Bees."

Gibson was at yesterday's practice in civilian clothes. He stood out on the field and watched his teammates go through practice clothes drill for the big game. He saw Wheby, Pair and Nettles working in his accustomed position.

Coach Alex doesn't expect Gibson to be ready for the Florida game. He wants him for the Georgia game and won't even have him in uniform for the Florida game at Gainesville.

NOT GLOOMY. There was no atmosphere of gloom at Tech yesterday. The injury to Gibson was not taken lightly, but the boys have a lot of faith in the trio that may alternate in his place. Wheby knows his way around. Pair has improved considerably with the season and Nettles is a smart, hard-working youngster who does a lot of things well.

Gibson, of course, was a versatile back who could give Johnny Bosch relief. Dick Bates will serve in this role. And Bates, a fine passer, should do all right.

The Jackets are prepared to give all they've got against the Tide. No mistake about that. It's a fine team without Gibson. Maybe it is a better team with him, but the loss of one man doesn't necessarily spell disaster.

Tech may suffer a bit defensively by Gibson's loss, but it won't be hurt offensively. Pair is a stepper.

GOOD SHAPE.

The Jacket line is in good shape for the game. There are few finer guards than Butch Adershold and Hawk Cavette.

Harlow To Remain As Harvard Coach

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Nov. 16.—(AP)—Richard C. Harlow, head coach of football at Harvard University, reaffirmed in a letter today to William J. Bingham, Harvard director of athletics, that he intended to fulfill his contract to serve as coach until 1942.

"Despite the understanding that exists between us, rumors still persist that I am to leave Harvard at the end of this football season," Harlow wrote, in the letter made public by Bingham. "I want to assure you again that there is no foundation for these rumors."

"I have signed a contract to remain at Harvard for several years, and I shall fulfill my contract."

"I want to thank the athletic committee for the confidence which it has in me, and also all those connected with Harvard football for the co-operation which I have received from them."

All in the Game

—by Jack Troy

There is no real way to measure the loss of Alternate-Captain Billy Gibson for the Alabama game Saturday. Billy, a senior who was playing the greatest ball of his career for the Jackets, is one of the mites who do magical things with the football.

Billy's an accomplished quick-kicker, fine runner, excellent pass receiver. He's a fine all-round back. And yet the loss of Gibson may spur the Jackets on to greater things.

There's one boy, in particular, who may step in there and carry on for Gibson in a highly satisfactory manner. This boy has been coming right along.

The boy is Bobby Pair, formerly of Tech High. Pair is undoubtedly the fastest Tech back. He can run and he can snag passes.

Of course, he lacks the experience of Gibson. Pair is only a sophomore. But, as said, he has been showing improvement

SKEET TOURNEY STARTS TODAY

A hunting season skeet championship tournament will be fired today and Saturday at the Capitol Gun Club, with all the targets registered by the National Skeet Association.

With Georgia Tech's football team in Birmingham and a majority of the shooters unable to make the trip, today's shoot was arranged as one of the big events of the fall months.

Today's program will start at 1 o'clock with 50 targets scheduled for the hunting season small-bore championship and another 50 targets in the 20-gauge championship.

Saturday's shooting will start at 9:30 o'clock and continue most of the afternoon with 150 targets on the program.

The all-bore championship will be featured on Saturday's program. There will be trophies for the winners in each event and shooters in Saturday's program will be divided according to classes.

The hunting season skeet championship is designed for the purpose of affording the many local hunters an opportunity to practice with the darting clays before going afield in search of the elusive quail.

KIRBY AND SUGGS, PROS VIE TODAY

Dorothy Kirby, former southern woman's champion, and Charlie Edwards, professional at the West End Club, will play Louise Suggs, and Hook Sandow, pro at the John A. White municipal course, at 1 o'clock this afternoon on the John White course.

The match is a result of several challenges and counter challenges and both professionals figure they have the advantage.

"Dorothy, beaten in the finals of the national women's tournament, is plenty good enough to be my partner," Edwards said Thursday as he completed a practice round.

"Louise Suggs, daughter of Johnny Suggs, former Cracker southpaw and considered one of the best young prospects in the state, is the type of player I like for a partner," Sandow said, "and with my hooking and her straight shots to the green, we should do all right."

It will be an 18-hole exhibition.

BABY PETRELS TO MEET G. M. C. TEAM TONIGHT

Cadets in Good Shape Except for Woodell, Stellar Guard.

MILLEDGEVILLE, Ga., Nov. 16.—Boasting an outstanding record in football circles of this section, the Georgia Military College Cadets will tangle with the Oglethorpe Freshmen here Friday night on Davenport field at 8 o'clock.

Undeatable except at the hands of the powerful Georgia Freshmen, the Cadets hold victories over the Mercer Freshmen, Fort Benning, Monroe Aggies, South Georgia College, Tennessee Wesleyan College and Belmont Abbey. If the Cadets can down the junior Petrels, they will be able to meet Gordon Military College here Thanksgiving, November 23, on an even basis. Gordon sustained her first loss of the season last week to the Miami University Frosh.

With the exception of Woodell, stellar guard who will be out the rest of the season with a broken leg, the Cadets will present an intact lineup for the Petrels. Hodges, Polak and Shorty Russell are expected to be off the injured list this week.

"My greatest worry for Friday night is over-confidence," said Coach Graham Batchelor after practice today. "My boys have had a typical let-down after defeating Belmont Abbey. They feel they can take Oglethorpe without too much effort. I don't."

CONN, LESNEVICH BATTLE TONIGHT

NEW YORK, Nov. 16.—(P)—Billy Conn, the Pittsburgh Adonis, lays his light heavyweight title on the line for the second time in four months tomorrow night in a 15-round fight with Gus Lesnevich, of Clifside, N. J., in Madison Square Garden.

Conn won the crown from Melio Bettina in a close Garden fight last July. A month later the Irishman invaded the heavyweight ranks against Gus Dorazio at Philadelphia and less than two months ago made his first title defense against Bettina in Pittsburgh. Conn won both contests.

Lesnevich, a rugged fellow, is the New York State Athletic Commission's No. 1 contender. Also he is the man Conn must defeat before Billy is recognized as the 175-pound champion by the National Boxing Association.

Cafego Still in Running For Heisman Award

Tennessee Ace, Harmon, Kinnick, Christman, Lead Poll As Best Grid Players.

NEW YORK, Nov. 16.—(P)—Tom Harmon's last two games for Michigan this season, against Pennsylvania at Philadelphia Saturday and against Ohio State the following week, will give the Michigan halfback a chance to get back in the running for the Heisman memorial trophy. The trophy is awarded each December by New York's Downtown Athletic Club to the outstanding football player of the year.

The first 100 ballots that came in showed four men leading in the race, they are—Harmon, Iowa's Nile Kinnick, Paul Christman, of Missouri, and George Cafego, Tennessee's all-around star.

Kinnick will lead the rejuvenated Hawkeyes against Minnesota Saturday and Christman will be out there pitching for the Tigers against unbeaten Oklahoma in one of Saturday's "naturals." Cafego was hurt in last week's "breather" with The Citadel.

In the Midwest they say the absence of blocking back Forrest Evashevski hobbled Harmon seriously in his last two starts. But Evashevski is expected to be ready for Penn, which sounds like bad news for the Red and Blue.

TARHEELS BEST.
Of thirteen teams this observer has looked at, North Carolina against Penn was by far the most impressive. It's true Penn gave the Tarheels all sorts of openings, but at least the Carolina boys knew what to do with them. Jim (Sweet) Lelanne, who stacks up against George McAfee and Duke in the southern headliner Saturday, carried Carolina to three touchdowns in six plays against Penn—which, even though all of them started on or within Penn's 30-yard line, is still better than par for the course.

BOWLING

SOUTHERN TOURNEY.

W. F. (Camera) Lowry, one of the top average Atlanta bowlers who has been touring the state of Florida on business for the past four weeks and is scheduled for two more weeks of work in that state, plans to fly by plane to Atlanta today so that he may be able to compete in the seventh annual staging of the Southern individual duckpin championships.

So, two of the entrants in the tournament will use the airplane method of transportation, as Miss Helen Randlett, of Richmond, had already signified her intentions of coming down to defend her title in the event by plane.

With a major award of $100 to the winner in the men's division and $50 to first place in the women's event, pins will be upset for strikes, spares and heavy counts as the contestants put forth their best efforts for victory.

With a predicted entry of more than one hundred in addition to the 40 or more entries from Atlanta, Columbus will send a delegation of 14 men and women; Miami will have five women; Greensboro will send six bowlers; Richmond will have two; Miss Ida Simmons, the world's champion woman bowler, will represent Norfolk; Chattanooga will send two bowlers; six will make the trip down from Greensboro; five are scheduled from Mason; five players will come from Charlotte and two are due from Asheville, in addition to other last-minute entries to be filed.

New local entries filed Thursday include Clyde L. Turner, Sr., Mrs. C. D. Kimbro, Katherine Herder, Bob McCoy and Alfreida Brighton.

SPECIAL MATCH TONIGHT.

The women's championship bowling team of the southeast, by virtue of winning this title at the southeastern bowling tournament at Winston-Salem last spring, will bowl a three-game match with a group of top average Atlanta young women on the downtown alleys at 7:30 o'clock this evening. The champions are here from Miami to bowl in the tourney Saturday.

The Atlanta team will have Martha Cleveland, Estelle Warrington, Dot Woodall, Thelma Stone and Jewell Jones bowling for high games as they compete against the Miami aggregation that will be made up of Mrs. C. Mann, Mrs. C. W. Watkins and Misses Love, Paske and Moore.

Total pinfall for the three games will determine the winners.

ELEVEN SENIORS PERFORM LAST TIME AT ATHENS

Light Session Billed To-day as Final Drill for Gamecocks.

ATHENS, Ga., Nov. 16.—Georgia's eleven seniors who will perform the last time as a Bulldogs football player before an Athens audience Saturday, are due to see an unusually large amount of service against the South Carolina Gamecocks.

At least five of them will be in there more than half the game, and three of them will be prepared to do 60 minutes of hard work if it is necessary.

Jim Fordham, hard-plunging fullback; Walter Wilfong and Smiley Johnson, two work-horse guards, are just as apt as not to have to go all the way against the Gamecocks, and Captain Vassas Cate, wingback, and big Charley Williams, tackle, will see more than 30 minutes' duty, provided, of course, injuries don't necessitate their removal from the battle.

OTHER SENIORS.

Other seniors on the squad are "Doolley" Matthews, Captain Cate's first assistant at wingback; Oliver Hunnicutt, who'll also play wingback, but can also be used at fullback in case of emergency; Knox Eldredge, diminutive right end; Abe Simonton, reserve guard; Bob Salisbury, who'll divide the time at blocking back with Bob Nowell and Billy Mims, the Bulldogs' ace "clutch" back and passer de luxe.

Coach Wallace Butts sent his charges through a routine workout this afternoon, dividing the practice session into pass offense and defense drills and a review of the Bulldogs ground plays.

The team worked out in sweat clothes and went in earlier than usual.

LIGHT DRILL TODAY.

Coach Butts said tomorrow's drill would be even lighter and would consist only of calisthenics, passing and punting.

The Bulldog mentor said Alex McCaskill will definitely start at the left end post against the Gamecocks Saturday, and it is practically certain that Tommy Witt will take over the regular duties at center.

FULTON ROUTED BY GAINESVILLE

GAINESVILLE, Ga., Nov. 16.—Gainesville routed Fulton High here tonight, 33 to 0. Gainesville scored first in the third play of the game by a long pass from Potter to Godfrey, who raced 26 yards across the goal.

It was a one-sided affair for most of the game with Gainesville on top all the way, Fulton showing a strong defense only in the third quarter, when they held Gainesville scoreless.

Starring for Gainesville were Potter, Evans, McClure, Godfrey and Casper. On the Fulton side, Gantt, Aiken and Bradford bore the burden of the defense. Gainesville earned 12 first downs by rushing to five for Fulton.

ALL IN THE GAME

each week. He has learned a lot since the couple of plays in which he participated against Notre Dame.

Earl Wheby, a senior, probably will start against Alabama in the tailback position customarily occupied by Gibson. Wheby is a hard-working back who has necessarily been kept in the background by the greater ability of Gibson.

And the greater ability of Pair may find the flying Tech sophomore doing most of the work from the tailback post on Saturday at Legion field. Give Pair shirt-tail distance and he's gone.

It should not be such a great handicap for Tech to have to work a sophomore in the backfield when it is considered that Alabama places great dependence in two and sometimes three—Nelson, Spencer and Hanson.

And another thing is that the loss of one back will not wreck a Tech team which is as resourceful as it is accomplished and spirited. Boys like Captain Murphy, Ector, Bosch, Gore, Wheby, Pair and others will carry on.

It seems there always has been a jinx connected with those Alabama games at Legion field. Tech had come through a hard season virtually without the loss of a man—and then, late in the final scrimmage—Dame Fortune singled out Bill Gibson. Maybe it's a good omen—since it happened beforehand.

OH, NO, IT'S TRUE.

Probably the most unique invitation a southern football writer has received in some time is the one to Juneau, Alaska's, first annual Gold Bowl game.

But it's a bonafide invitation, all right, and the bid from Jim O'Neil, one of the sponsors, tells something about football's newest bowl, in addition to including a ticket.

There have been some who figure it's only a writer's prank. Persuading Morgan Blake to serve as correspondent for all three Atlanta papers may be, but all the rest of it is on the level.

KICKOFF 12:30 SHARP

O'Neil writes: "Newest bowl in football is Juneau's 'Gold Bowl,' where on November 23 Alaskans will witness the first organized pigskin clash in the territory's history."

"It is true that football of sorts has been played here in years past, but on Roosevelt's Thanksgiving Day fans will witness two fully trained teams in action, playing under today's intercollegiate rules. The Baranof Bears, coached by Conrad Puh, and Tom Dyer's Sourdoughs, each have a squad of 30 men. The majority of the players are ex-university men, representing such schools as Washington, Oregon, Alabama, Army, Notre Dame, Wisconsin, Minnesota, etc."

"Conceived partly as a charity event and partly for the purpose of demonstrating the feasibility of football as a part of Alaska's planned sports life, the Gold Bowl enterprise has met with rousing interest and complete co-operation from all sides. Adequate equipment for 60 men, for instance, has been furnished by the University of Washington at Seattle."

"Any news stories or background material will be furnished gladly if sports editors will advise us as to requirements."

If other sections can have their Rose, Sugar, Orange, Dust, Finger, Brains and other bowl games, why can't Alaska have its Gold Bowl? And that's something to think about, too. Alaska can have it.

Ferdinand's Corner: Line in publicity release from Athens says, "The fact the Georgia-South Carolina game is the only college contest in the state Saturday brought predictions, etc."

... Ferdinand must insist that Oglethorpe comes under the college heading, if for no other reason than that it's his alma mammy.

... John B. Stetson, the team Oglethorpe is playing in the homecoming game Saturday at Hermance field, also is a college, in spite of those strident yells of "Block that hat!"

... If fans can't get over to Birmingham or Athens for the major games, the Petrel-Hatter contest here is heartily recommended. ... Russell High's band will supply the music. ... Coach Bill Alexander was filling out one of those football sheets the other day at the Flats. ... He was going along in brisk style, putting checks by teams he figured would win, when he came to North Carolina-Duke. ... "Well, well, North Carolina-Duke; guess I'll have to come back to that one."

... Finally, he put a cross by Duke, but he wasn't any too confident. ... That's the way the game really shapes up. ... Duke suffers by the loss of that great blocking back, Easy Eaves, who suffered a broken leg in the Tech game. ... But Duke has a very fine line and backs in the Tech game. ... But Duke has a very fine line and backs in the Tech game. ... But Duke has a very fine line and backs in the Tech game.

... Those of you who haven't yet read Tom Meany's fine Post article on southern football should do so by all means. ... It's as fair a piece of dealing with the game below the Mason and Dixon line as you'll ever see written by an eastern writer. ... The title, "Dixie Plays for Blood," is a trifle misleading. ... Vandy may give Tennessee a good going over this Saturday. ... And Kentucky, which three years in a row tied Tennessee's best, may follow up with the knockout punch 10 days later. ... Major Bob Neyland is mad at all football writers outside of Knoxville.

... He can control the home-town boys, but the others do not hesitate to tell the truth about the Vols' "powder puff" schedule. ... It's tough, indeed, for the Major, that the victory which was to have made Tennessee a standout now lessens considerably in value, since others are licking Alabama, too. ... Big day and night for colored college teams here Saturday. ... Clark plays Talladega (homecoming) at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon at Ponce de Leon, and Saturday night, at the same place, Morris Brown and Knoxville clash under the lights. ... Curley Barber, Clark, is rated one of the best colored halfbacks in the south. ... By the way, hasn't George Cafego made a remarkable recovery from that terrible knee injury?

PACK GLAMOR.
NEW YORK.—The Gaels are glamorous, even in defeat. When the St. Mary's football special rolled into town today, there were 217 Californians aboard. And that, in spite of one of the poorest seasons in years. And they'll get a warm welcome tonight at the Waldorf when the eighth annual press party is held.

Strickler and Fuller Win at East Lake
Dr. C. W. Strickler and W. A. Fuller were winners Thursday afternoon on the East Lake courses in the regular midweek blind bogey. The winning score was 80 and there were 42 entries in the event.

Sharing second place one stroke away from the winners were J. E. Boyd, L. D. Thompson, J. A. Dodd and R. M. Barksdale.

Others in the prize list were E. R. Partridge, J. J. McConnehey, R. A. Martin, F. O. Salley, E. S. Markert, P. D. McCarty, E. S. Humphries and A. N. Patton.

ORANGE BOWL IS CONSIDERING N. C., MISSOURI

Outcome of Tarheel-Devil, Tiger-Sooner Battles May Decide.

NEW YORK, Nov. 16.—(P)—Missouri University's once-beaten Tigers and North Carolina's once-beaten Tarheels are being given serious consideration as foes for the Orange Bowl football game in Miami, Fla., January 1, it was learned here tonight.

Whether or not both or either are invited will depend largely on the outcome of Saturday's important tests in which the two are involved. Missouri plays unbeaten Oklahoma's mighty Sooners and the Tarheels have a sell-out game with the Duke Blue Devils.

Scouts from the Florida game committee will watch both games and it is possible that a defeat will not necessarily bar either of the teams from getting an invitation. They might still get the bid if they put up strong battles, it was intimated.

D. Walker Wear, member of the New York Athletic Commission, and himself a Missourian, suggested unofficially that the Tigers be invited to the Bowl game, but it was said that they had received consideration even before Wear made his suggestion.

A delegation of Floridians, headed by Governor Fred P. Cone, was in New York today attending a conference from which plans for a national high school football championship game, to be played at Miami, were drafted. The Orange Bowl plans were discussed by them, but no one wished to be quoted.

MORRIS BROWN IN NIGHT GAME

The Saturday night game between Morris Brown and Knoxville bids fair to be one of those colored bruisers that keep the fans on their feet from the opening whistle. The time will be 8 o'clock at Ponce de Leon. The largest crowd of the season is expected to watch the classic.

Coaches Nickles, Lockhart and Graves, of Morris Brown, are stressing offensive power for this game. They feel their defense is airtight enough to stop the Bulldogs, and will rest their hopes on such stalwarts as Clifford Brown, Wyringer, "Mule" Settles, Willis Griffin, Clarence Brown, LeRoss Rooker and Gerald Brown.

DICK BATES SET TO HELP BOSCH

good tackles, Jim Wright is a steadily improving center and ends like Ison and Webb, Arthur and Sprayberry can hold their own in almost any competition.

The heavy work is over for the game. There will be a light drill on fundamentals today and the boys will board a train at 4:30 for the scene of battle. They'll spend the night at the Tutwiler hotel in Birmingham.

A sell-out is assured for the game, which means that upwards of 28,000 will be present. Many of these will be Tech supporters.

The Jackets carry an unbeaten conference record into the game and, regardless of some rating systems, are logically slight favorites over the Crimson Tide.

Pass Defense Stressed by 'Bama

TUSCALOOSA, Ala., Nov. 16.—(P)—Alabama backs were drilled on pass defense again today as Coach Frank Thomas ended strenuous work for the Saturday game with Georgia Tech at Birmingham.

Several of the cripples were held out of the workout, but the squad as a whole should be in fairly good shape for the Tech contest. Whether Paul Spencer, sophomore fullback and the team's leading ground-gainer, would be able to play remained doubtful.

If Spencer is out, another sophomore, John Hanson, 191-pounder from Roanoke, Ala., will start at fullback.

Frosh Tickets Asked For Safety Patrol

The Safety Patrol, composed of youngsters of the Greater Atlanta area, attended last Saturday's Tech and Kentucky game and had a great time. They were escorted and supervised by Captain Jack Malcom, of the Atlanta police department.

Captain Malcom is interested in doing whatever he can for the boys because they perform outstanding safety work in co-operation with the police.

And so Captain Malcom would like for people who purchase tickets for the annual Tech-Georgia freshman game for the benefit of the Scottish Rite hospital and do not intend to use the tickets, to send them to him at police headquarters so the Safety Patrol boys can see the game.

A lot of people did this last year and the boys had the time of their young lives.

GUNTHER FACES CORBY TONIGHT

An unbeaten record will be pitted against one which shows only one defeat in 28 starts when Bullett Joe Gunther, former Nashville schoolboy, grapples Bob Corby, former Red Shadow, in tonight's wrestling headliner at Sports arena.

Gunther has tossed all kinds of opposition here, and right now the handsome and powerful young Tennesseean is leading the parade of matmen entered in the southern light-heavyweight tournament being conducted at the arena. Corby is right on his heels.

Dynamite Joe Dillman, the Greek who is known as "wild man of the river," will oppose Gentleman Jack Purdin, Texas cowboy, in the semi-final, a contest which may bring action from the city commission, which is clamping down on overly rough tactics.

Dillman is probably the best drawing card in this part of the country, and is making his second appearance here.

Larry Tillman and Eddie Pope open hostilities at 8:30. Usual low prices prevail.

TALLADEGA HERE FOR CLARK TILT

Talladega College, Clark University's opponent Saturday afternoon at Ponce de Leon Park arrives this afternoon. Coach Kitchens, is bringing a squad of 33 men here for Clark's annual homecoming fracas. The day has been designated at Clark as Cardinal and Black Day and hundreds of old grads will be here for the tussle.

The offensive power of the Atlantans is said to be better for this game than anytime this season. Backfield mentors, McPherson and Suber, have been working hard to get correct timing on their plays. The shift that many of the new players had a hard time learning is about perfect now, and better play is expected than was shown in the Panthers' loss to Morehouse College last week.

Undefeated Purples Battle Once-Beaten Smithies Tonight

BOYS' HIGH WIN WILL MEAN TITLE FOR DOYLE'S '11'

Tech High Has Come a Long Way Since 13-7 Opening Defeat.

By ROY WHITE.

Tech High and Boys' High will battle at 8 o'clock tonight at Ponce de Leon park for a chance at both the city and state prep football championships. It's the one big game of the year for both teams and the one game by which success or failure of the season is measured.

Boys' High is undefeated, but has a 6-6 tie game with Marist College to mar an otherwise perfect record. The Purples have beaten Commercial, Knoxville,

Other games tonight include Marist at Columbus, Fulton at Gainesville, North Fulton High at Marietta, and Russell and Newnan at 7:30 o'clock at East Point.

North Fulton should clinch its first North Georgia interscholastic conference championship with an easy win over Marietta.

Greenville, Savannah, Columbus, G. M. A. and Lanier. Only Marist and Columbus, with one touchdown each, have scored on the Purples.

Tech High lost its opening game to Marist College, 7-13, but since that time the Smithies have beaten Russell, Savannah, Decatur, G. M. A., Lanier, Commercial and Richmond. Marist, Russell, G. M. A. and Richmond have scored on Tech High.

THREE-WAY TIE

A Tech High victory will leave the Smithies, Boys' High and Marist College in a three-way tie for the city title and give the Monroe Aggies the best chance to win the state crown, provided the Aggies remain undefeated.

A Boys' High victory will give the Purples the best claim to city honors and also a chance at the state championship, since the Purples have only the out-of-state games left on their card.

Coaches Doyal and Tolbert both are moaning over a possible loss—just as they have done in past years. Boys' High has circulated placards, "Hold Tech High to two touchdowns," in a choice bit of propaganda.

Howard Haire Jr., a tackle; Red Eaves, a tackle, and Clint Castleberry, a halfback, are on the injured list with only Eaves having a possible chance to play for the Purples. Several other Boys' High players are not in the best of condition.

Tech High claims that those "bear" stories are part of Boys' High's propaganda program and that all the athletes will be in the game, just as they have been in the past. The Smithies also point to only two teams scoring on the Purples, as the main reason why Boys' High should not be taken as weaklings.

ONLY CHARLOTTE.

Only Charlotte, November 23, at Charlotte is left on the Tech High schedule, so the Smithies will hold nothing in reserve tonight.

End play should be outstanding, for both teams have depended, in a large measure, on end arounds and great end play all season. Boys' High uses its ends on a pass play and also on laterals, as well as the end arounds and ap-

'IRON MAN' PAGE, JORDAN TACKLE, ALL-ROUND STAR

Pete Is Fine Ball Carrier; Stands Out in Other Sports.

By FELTON GORDON.

COLUMBUS, Ga., Nov. 16.—(AP) Pete Page, Jordan's bruising 190-pound tackle, combines all the graces of a good left halfback and the sturdiness of a stout lineman . . . and you may take Coach Red Jenkins' word for that.

Page's visions of becoming a backfield star have come near being realized several times. Last week end against Commercial High school he blocked a punt and fell on it in the end zone on the second play of the game. Later in the same game he scooped up an opponent's fumble and galloped 90 yards, only to have his "score" nullified when the ball was ruled dead. Asked why he did it, he said it was the best to be certain.

Page returned a punt for something like 35 or 40 yards earlier in the season. Coach Jenkins promptly dispatched a substitute into the game to tell Page to go to fullback. The new player forgot the instructions.

Opposing coaches admit that Page stays in their backfield so much on defense that he should be given one of their jerseys. He has blocked at least three punts this season.

Page's stellar defensive play is one of the chief reasons Jordan's first-string line has yielded but one touchdown this season. The other two scores have come on passes.

Injuries have never troubled him. The only battle mark to show for his four seasons of football, at Jordan, is an injured finger. He hasn't missed a game in the past two seasons. Page has seen full Alabama Alumni Send Thomas 'Best Wishes' Tide Association Hears of Progress Being Made at University.

Members of the Atlanta Alabama Alumni Association sent Coach Frank Thomas a telegram last night, wishing the Tide the best of luck in their game with Tech Saturday in Birmingham.

The telegram was read to the annual meeting of the association at the Piedmont hotel.

The main speech was made by Marlin Moore, field secretary of the Alabama Alumni Association. He talked on the progress being made at the institution.

Melvin Schwarz served as toastmaster. He was introduced by President Francis Smith.

Vice presidents introduced included Fred Blount and Clyde Davidson. Mrs. Alice Padgett and Fred Sington, other vice presidents, were absent. Schwarz also introduced Weyman Crenshaw, secretary, and Fred Brown, treasurer.

Bob Shetley presented Frank Gilreath with the "loving pup" in honor of Gilreath's serving as vice president for five minutes.

Sport writers present were introduced but Joe Fine did all their talking. He did a better job of fence straddling than any scribe could ever think of, closing his remarks with the prediction about the Alabama-Tech game, "I predict one or the other will win, if it isn't a tie game."

time service in the last five games.

The mythical bi-city team of 1938 claimed Page as one of its members. This is the highest honor locally for an athlete. He is an outstanding student, being a major in the R. O. T. C. at C. M. T. C. Last summer he won three medals — marksmanship, discus throwing and boxing.

He won no medal for the century dash last season, but hopes to get it next summer. And Page is reportedly the prize apple of scouts for at least four colleges.

NATIONAL PREP GAME WILL AID PARALYSIS FIGHT

Grantland Rice Heads Group to Select Contending Eleven.

NEW YORK, Nov. 16.—(AP)—A national high school football championship game to be played at Miami, Fla., Christmas Day and dubbed the "starlet bowl" was announced tonight by the National Sports Council of the committee for the celebration of the President's birthday.

Grantland Rice, chairman of the council, said the game would be an annual affair with all proceeds over traveling expenses for the teams and incidentals going to the fund to fight infantile paralysis.

Selection of the teams will be made by a special committee of sports authorities to be named by Rice, himself a nationally known sports columnist.

High schools throughout the 48 states are being notified of the game, he said. Participants must conform to the eligibility standards of the National Federation of State High School Associations.

L.S.U. REINSTATES FRESHMAN STAR

BATON ROUGE, La., Nov. 16.—

(AP)—Walter (Piggy) Barnes, 220-pound freshman football prospect at Louisiana State University, dismissed for "disciplinary reasons," today was reinstated as a member of the squad.

Barnes, an all-state tackle for two years at Parkersburg, V. Va., High school, and former mid-Atlantic wrestling champion, was dismissed after he disagreed with Coach Bernie Moore.

Moore said Barnes had been absent from military drills in the university's cadet corps and had been consistently cutting classes and, when cautioned about it, had been indignant.
